2 Saboteurs Linked To Radio Spy Ring

PLOT TRACED TO OPERATION FBI SMASHED

Trial of 8 Nazis Expected to Be Prolonged by Legal Arguments.

CONFESSIONS ON RECORD

Defense Attorneys Dispute All Evidence In Hope of Getting Appeal.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(U P)— Ace counter-espionage agents of the federal bureau of investigation appeared before the military tribunal trying eight Nazi saboteurs today to describe circumstances under which the hirelings of Adolf Hitler were said to have confessed their mission following their arrest.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Testimony developed in the military trial of the eight German saboteurs landed in this country by Nazi submarines today linked two of the prisoners to the New York radio spy ring broken up by the FBI more than a year ago

With the seven-man military commission sworn to secrecy for what now promises to be a prolonged trial, it could not be learned which two of the eight were involved.

However it became known as the spy trial entered its fourth day, that part of the sabotage plot stemmed from operations of a ring of Nazi informers who relayed information back to Germany through a short-wave radio station on Long Island

The radio spy ring was broken up by G-men, and many persons involved in it are now in jail It was disclosed that it was at this time that the FBI first learned of the pro-Nazi sympathies of the two saboteurs, who with their six co-conspirators now face hanging or the firing-squad

While the trial was held in a doubly-barricaded room on the fifth floor of the justice department in Washington, it was re-

200 Turn Out for Demonstration In Fighting Fires

Pleased with the success of a demonstration held last night to acquaint civilian defense volunteers with proper fire fighting techniques, Fire Chief Charles J Seeburger said today that similar demonstrations will be held every Friday night.

More than 200 watched last night while one of the city's regular fire crews went through an exhibition of hose and ladder drills at the food of North Walnut street. Then about 60 auxiliary firemen were organized into crews and ran through hose drills themselves

Chief Seeburger said that he was "highly pleased" at the outcome of the demonstration and that other phases of fire fighting would be handled in other exhibitions on Friday night. Next week, the student firemen will get a lesson in the proper use of ladders.

The training program for the present class of about 75 members

Drive Nets 268 Tons of Scrap Rubber

Campaign Has Surprise Finish; 64,578 Pounds On Final Day.

Staging a surprisingly strong finish with a last-day collection of 32 tons, Richland county yesterday swelled its scrap rubber heap to a grand total of 268 tons, a tabulation revealed today.

C. L Hartenfels, chairman of the county scrap rubber collection committee, reported today that yesterday's collection totalled 64,578 pounds In addition, he said, several companies reported they had additional amounts to turn in today or Monday These are expected to total 20,000 pounds.

This will raise the total to approximately 275 tons, only 13 below the enlarged quota of 288 tons set for the county. The quota was based on a figure of eight pounds per person.

The national collection was expected to total 400,000 tons. If all this scrap is useable for reclaiming, it would be a full year's supply However, at Washington, it was reported that officials still were undecided on whether the national rubber collection would mean postponement of nation-wide gasoline rationing as a rubber conservation measure.

Salvage officials immediately began work on their next two activities—a nation-wide drive to gather steel and iron scrap so furnaces can continue full production for war-time needs, and a similar drive to gather household fats from the nation's homes for use in making explosives

Plans for iron and steel scrap collection, scheduled to begin Monday, were virtually complete. War production board officials estimated that 88,000,000 tons of steel would be needed for war and essential civilian uses this year, and that one-fourth of this would have to be in the form of scrap picked up from the farm lots, the cellers and the industrial bone yards of the country.

Mixed with pig iron, the scrap is needed to keep the nation's furnaces running. Last winter, according to WPB Chief Donald M. Nelson, as many as 15 furnaces were shut down at one time because they lacked scrap.

During the past six months

Allied Neutral Shipping Toll Climbs to 354.

(By Associated Press)

With the disclosure of five more cargo ship sinkings by U-boat shells and torpedoes, the unofficial Associated Press tabulation of Allied and neutral losses in western Atlantic waters stood today at 354.

Sixteen seamen were killed in the destruction of four merchantmen—two British, one American and one Belgian—disclosed yesterday by the U S. navy which reported that 230 other crewmen were rescued. The Cuban navy announced the sinking of a Honduran craft, with all hands saved.

Two torpedoes and some shells sank a British merchantman of medium size in the south Atlantic June 1 killing three men Quartermaster R G Cook of London, one of the 78 survivors, said the raider was the largest submarine he ever had seen—"big enough to carry a plane."

BILL DOUBLES INCOME TAXES

House Committee Adds One Per Cent In Drive to Raise $6,000,000.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — An eleventh-hour decision to boost the average individual's income taxes another one per cent to almost double the present rates put the yield of the house ways and means committee's new revenue bill above $6,000,000 today

Members worked to finish writing the bill before nightfall It has been the subject of weeks of hearings and when completed, will be headed for more weeks of congressional debate

At an unusual night session last night, the committee adopted a motion to add 1 per cent to the new surtax graduated scale of from 12 per cent on the first $2,000 of personal net income to 81 per cent above $5,000 000 Present rates are from 6 to 77 per cent

Thus with a 6 per cent normal tax, compared with the present 4, the committee's new combined rate would be increased from 10 per cent to 19 per cent in the lowest bracket.

By this action the committee picked up $310,000,000 in additional revenue, but that addition was offset to the extent of $85,000 000-000 by another vote to retain the personal exemptions in the present law for soldiers and sailors The committee previously had decided to lower the single person's exemption from $750 to $500 and for married couples from $1,500 to $1,200

Thursday the committee eliminated a $102,800,000 item to be obtained from increased postal rates on second and third-class mail. Considering all revisions since the committee began reviewing a final copy of its bill last Tuesday, the estimated yield today stood at $6,046,200 000

The treasury had asked the committee to raise $8,700,000,000

The Richland county treasurer's office chalked up the largest collections of the current tax paying season yesterday when property owners paid $23,356 over the counter for real estate taxes assessed for the last half of 1941.

Approximately $23,356 was collected yesterday, County Treasurer Charles Payne said, bringing the total collections thus far up to $147,712.

Tax books will remain open until Aug 20 for the second half collections that are expected to bring in close to $700,000 approximately the amount received for the first half of 1941

RURAL TEACHER SHORTAGE HITS

County Schools Lose 12 to Army, 8 Other Replacements Hard to Find.

The school teacher shortage which has been felt generally by schools throughout the state since war was declared is beginning to affect replacements in the school systems of Mansfield and Richland county.

Richland county's nine centralized schools have already lost 12 teachers by army induction and will be called upon to make at least eight and possibly more replacements before school starts Sept. 1, Boyd W Robinson, county superintendent said

Butler school is hit the hardest. At least four teachers and a superintendent must be employed by the Butler board of education, County Supt. Boyd Robinson said. Teachers for industrial art, commercial subjects, music and Latin and English are needed.

Union school has at least three vacancies to fill and possibly a fourth if the present vocational agricultural instructor is inducted into the army before school starts

No school in the county is in a greater agricultural area than Union the superintendent explained, and preliminary steps have already been taken to fill the vacancy at Union should one occur

Robinson pointed out that out of the 30 vocathional agricultural students graduated last spring from Ohio State university the only school in the state that has such a course, 21 are subject to induction

H W. Arlin, president of the Mansfield Board of Education, said that the local school system would probably lose eight or 10 men to army service, including the several men previously inducted. No shortage is anticipated here at least at the beginning of the season, Arlin said

DROP PLANS FOR FEDERAL SUBSIDIES

Administration Leaders Said To Have Given Up Phase Of Price Program.

OPA ACTION BANNED

New Defense Bill Would Bar Use of Money For Subsidy Payments.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The administration was reported today to have decided against asking congress for price control subsidies now, even though Leon Henderson has warned that present ceilings could not be maintained without them

Informed legislators who declined quotation by name said efforts to revive the administration's dormant $750 000 000 subsidy proposal had been dropped, at least until later in the year.

Price Administrator Henderson had told a senate appropriations sub-committee that in his talks with President Roosevelt and others "it was always understood that there would be instances and important cases where the price ceilings of March could not be maintained unless there were subsidy payments of some kind '

The appropriations committee yesterday wrote into a $1,808,-000,000 supplemental defense money bill a provision Senator McKellar (D.-Tenn.) said would bar use of any part of the $120,000,000 office of price administration operating funds for payment of subsidies.

Previously the administration had sought authority to use up to $750,000,000 to support the price control structure by purchases through the commodity credit corporation and the reconstruction finance corporation of articles which would be resold to distributors at less than their cost to the government The senate declined to act on this proposal.

Henderson had testified that if the OPA had been able to pay $100,000 000 in subsidies to distributors instead of permitting an increase of 15 per cent in the Davis Declares He'll Prevent Conflicting Statements.

WASHINGTON— (AP) —Director Elmer Davis pledged the new office of war information today to give the people a clear, complete and accurate picture" of the war, and to prevent 'conflicting statements which confuse the public mind "

As for his relations with the war and navy departments, Davis told questioners he did not believe a civilian was qualified to determine questions of military security. He added that he had "not found any mood in the services to hold back bad news because it is bad news" His office, he remarked, certainly was "against anything like that."

In allowing the army and navy freer rein, he explained, he was operating on the theory that no civilian was qualified to determine what information would or would not endanger national security.

Axis Smashing At South and Central Russia

Nazis Strike Across Don River Toward Outskirts of Voronezh, Report Heavy Bombing Raid on Rostov, 89,000 Russians Taken Prisoner.

(By United Press)

MOSCOW—A reinforced Axis offensive pushed six tank-led drives into central and southern Russia today, with the main enemy attacks striking across the Don river to the outskirts of Voronezh and southeastward toward the war center of Voroshilovgrad and the Rostov gateway to the Caucasus.

Heavy fighting in the vicinity of Lisichansk and Kantemirovka, on the Moscow-Rostov railroad, 40 miles south of Rossosh, indicated that one of the most dangerous enemy advances was within 40 miles of Voroshilovgrad and about 120 miles northwest of Rostov.

(German communiques said that Rostov had been heavily bombed and that the entire Kursk-Kharkov-Don river area to a point 217 miles south of Voronezh had been cleared of all important Russian forces, with 89 000 taken prisoner.)

The main aim of the enemy offensive southeastward appeared to be to move against the north flank of the Russian defense lines around Rostov and to advance through the Rossosh sector, south of the Don river bend, in an effort to isolate the Caucasus (This presumably would involve a long push across flat country toward Astrakhan on the Caspian sea at the mouth of the Volga)

But the most intense fighting for the time being was on the Don river near Voronezh where the Germans moved up reinforcements in an effort to take that city (The Germans claim they have held Voronezh since last Tuesday)

The Communist party organ Pravda reported that 100 German tanks and an infantry division (15 000 men) had crossed the River Don opposite Voronezh and established a battle front.

They were in the outskirts of Voronezh, a city of 212,000 people and another point on the Moscow-Rostov railway, but, constantly hammered by Soviet tanks and artillery were unable to be reinforced from their main bases on the west bank.

Desperate attempts to establish another bridgehead failed The defenders repulsed a series of fierce assaults, both on east and west banks of the Don, inflicting heavy losses on the Germans, but they hurried up reinforcements and increased their pressure

"Last night our forces fought the enemy west of Voronezh and in the directions of Kantemirovka and Lisichansk," the Soviet noon communique today said "On other sectors there were no important changes"

The latest German drive was in the vicinity of Lisichansk, 36 miles southeast of Izyum on the Kharkov front, and it might be the prelude to a German grand offensive on the oil-rich Caucasus. It is 120 miles northwest of Rostov, Russia's big port and manufacturing center at the mouth of the Don

The German cut the Moscow-Rostov railway when they occupied Rossosh, 110 miles south of Voronezh, restricting communications between the capital and the Caucasus to several poor, roundabout routes.

Last midnight's Soviet communique announced that Rossosh had been evacuated

Heavy fighting also had broken out at Kantemirovka, 39 miles southeast of Rossosh

A dispatch to the Soviet army organ Red Star reported that "exceptionally fierce fighting" was raging on three sectors of the Kalinin front, northwest of Moscow. The Germans seized an important road and rushed "an avalanche" of tanks, motorized infantry and armored cars into the Russians' depth defenses. On other sectors, the Russians wrested several villages from the Germans.

ADVANCE: British Strike at Axis, Gain Five Miles In Egypt

BULLETIN

CAIRO, Egypt—(AP)—Allied airmen thundered into action today with the mightiest air assault ever witnessed in the desert in support of British ground forces which advanced five miles on the northern sector of the El Alamein front yesterday.

(By International News Service)

WITH THE BRITISH EIGHTH ARMY IN EGYPT—Launching a counter-offensive against Axis forces in Egypt, the British army today scored an advance of five miles along the northern sector of the battlefront west of El Alamein

The attack, ending a week-long lull in the battle for Egypt, began at dawn yesterday

"Our troops attacked on the northern sector and during the day made a limited advance of about five miles westward along the railway from El Alamein," the British high command said in an official communique announcing the advance.

The major assault was begun following persistent raids by British patrols along the 50-mile line west of Alamein which the Axis sought to fortify.

Several Axis tanks were destroyed when enemy forces which moved eastward from positions on the southern sector of the battle line were engaged by British armored columns

The fury of the fighting was extended to the air where at least eight Axis fighter planes were shot down and many others damaged in severe dog-fights.

Medium bombing planes and other naval aircraft smashed simultaneously at Axis shipping in

MYSTERIOUS: Gestapo Chief In Poland Meets Strange Death

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK—Another chief of the Nazi Gestapo was reported by the British radio today to have died under mysterious circumstances.

In a broadcast heard by CBS, the British radio said: "The Nazi hangman Erich Guddert, chief of the police and SS (elite guard) forces in Lumlin, Poland, is said to have lost his life under mysterious circumstances while fulfilling his duties."

(Editor's Note The reported death of Guddert recalled that the Nazis, immediately following the assassination in Prague of Reinhard Heydrich, deputy chief of the Gestapo, were reported to have rounded up hundreds of Polish officers executed many and imprisoned others A threat was issued simultaneously that if any untoward incidents occurred in Poland those imprisoned would be put to death.)

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

After It's Over.

LIKE Samson with his haircut, Broadway with its bulbs turned off has lost a lot of its strength. Six months of war has darkened the face of the Street and made it dimmer — not mournful, but serious and war minded, and when your mind's on war you don't laugh very much or very often.

Kilgallen

I can't help wondering what it's going to be like when the war is over and Johnny comes marching home. What kind of Broadway will grow out of the post-war era?

Most of all, I hope that when the smoke of battle lifts and the lights go on and we can once again read the morning papers in Broadway's electrical midnight sunshine, the old stars will be back.

By then, maybe, Ethel Merman will be singing in a Buddy DeSylva musical with Victor Moore and Billy Gaxton— that's a fine slice of Broadway right there. Let's have Lunt and Fontanne on deck, too—and maybe by peacetime Bette Davis will have found a vehicle in which she can die magnificently in person right up on the stage.

A Broadway with Mae West and Bob Hope and Fredric March, and at least one Barrymore, will be the Broadway for me.

* * * *

Why shouldn't the miscellaneous joys of the town be here after it's over? I hope the Rockettes keep in thrillingly precise step at the Music Hall, and I want the ice and roller skating seasons to come and go in the Sunken Plaza. Sidney Kingsley can't get out of his khaki any too soon to suit me, and if Noel Coward would just hustle across the Atlantic with a show for Beatrice Lillie, things would be really looking up.

When the street's a brilliant Mazda road again, I hope Douglas Leigh, the electric sign wizard, goes back to being the Walt Disney of Broadway's light bulbs . . . I hope Tallulah Bankhead will have found a role to match her magic in "The Little Foxes" . . . I'll feel a little strange, after the lights are turned on again, if Lee Shubert's magnificent petrol wagon isn't parked, as it's always been in Shubert Alley.

By the time the war ends, we'll be about ready to grow new stars and new authors. There'll be plenty of room for new talent then and something tells me there's going to be an exciting boom around Times Square.

I see a Broadway re-established as the drill grounds for the laugh parade. I think America will be flocking around the Gay White Way to celebrate victory long and deliriously. And why not?

Physically, Broadway could stand some changes. There are a lot of old theaters that could give way to new ones—a blow to sentiment here and there, perhaps, but some of our old houses should have gone out with John Wilkes Booth. There are a few dozen soft-drink stands that could go, too—or get new faces. Maybe a few swanky shops would improve the view for sidewalk strollers—but I'll leave that up to the Broadway Association. They'll know what to do.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD — Just by being good-hearted, normal people, living generally happy lives though periodically beset with problems, Mr. Fibber McGee and his wife Molly have won a fabulous following.

And that's funny, when you look into it, because Fibber and Molly aren't normal people at all. Funnier still is the reason: their public, which likes them normal, won't let them be.

Coons

Your average couple, outside of Fibber and Molly's Wistful Vista, will have a talk now and then about politics, or religion, or the conduct of the war. They're likely to have an occasional spat, and if they don't take a cocktail themselves they're pretty sure to know someone who does. Fibber and Molly don't even know anybody who drinks. Not any more. Not since the time they mentioned that wayward relative of theirs. They got bushels of protests, and they know better now.

IN THEIR second movie with Edgar Bergen, "Here We Go Again," Fibber and Molly will stay in "normal" characters rigidly expected of them. They won't mention religion, or politics, or anything controversial. They won't have a quarrel, even the tiniest smidgeon of a dispute. They certainly won't drink or talk about drinking.

Fibber and Molly will celebrate an anniversary by vacationing at a summer resort where they'll meet Bergen. The resort, like Wistful Vista, is nowhere on the map, but presumably it's close by Fibber's dream village. Fibber and Molly, naturally, aren't the kind of Americans who burn good rubber on long vacation jaunts, or us up precious train space unnecessarily.

Fibber, the good-hearted "normal" husband, has another amazing secret: he does all he does—including vacation trips—without benefit of a steady job. His occupation? "The question just never has come up," says Jim Jordan, who is Fibber.

TO Jim and Marion (Molly) Jordan, and to their one writer, Don Quinn who has been with them 12 years, the war has brought new tabus and obligations. Of the latter, typical is what Fibber unearthed when he excavated the McGee's classically overstuffed closet in search of war material salvage: he found exactly what the government most needs, and he found it piece by piece.

Of the tabus there is no formal list of "dont's." The same good taste which forbids Fibber and Molly the clinical and anatomical gag now forbids them the jokes about rubber, the draft, the war in general. They gave up "Jap jokes" within a month, sensing a surfeit — plus the all-important fact that war, especially this war, is not a funny subject to millions whose lives have been or may be torn apart by it.

CORN AND WHEAT CROPS CLOSE TO TOTAL FOR 1941

Per-Acre Yield Increased In Nation's Program of 'Food For Freedom.'

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The nation's farmers, though cutting corn and wheat acreage to produce more "food for freedom," will harvest only "slightly less" than last year's corn and wheat crops because of an increase in per-acre yield, the agriculture department estimated today.

The department said that a crop board report of July 1 on growing conditions indicated that 1942 corn production will be 2,627,823,000 bushels and wheat production 904,288,000 bushels, only "slightly below" the 1941 harvest.

It was estimated that Ohio will produce 162,475,000 bushels of corn this year compared with 160,974,000 bushels last year. The state's winter wheat production will run to approximately 39,150,000 bushels as compared with the 1941 harvest of 48,950,000 bushels.

The crop report said that the national yield per acre on wheat in cultivation would average approximately 17.9 bushels, one bushel an acre more than last year and 4.6 bushels above the 1930-39 average. The average production of all corn was estimated at 29.4 bushels an acre.

The potato crop was estimated at 369,825,000 bushels, compared with 357,783,000 bushels last year. Sweet potato production was estimated at 68,111,000 bushels, compared with 63,284,000 bushels last year.

Tobacco production was estimated at 1,356,508,000 pounds, compared with 1,261,364,000 pounds last year.

Production of sugar cane for sugar was estimated at 7,379,000 tons, compared with 5,462,000 tons last year. Sugar beet production was estimated at 12,457,000 tons, compared with 10,311,000 tons last year.

The 1942 peach crop was estimated at 66,984,000 bushels, compared with 67,418,000 bushels last year. The pear crop was estimated at 29,337,000 bushels, compared with 29,303,000 bushels last year.

First details concerning the death of their son, Lieut. Robert P. Spreng, in an airplane crash in India on April 2, were received today by Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Spreng, 414 Park avenue west.

The plane struck an obstruction while taking off, and burst into flames, the message received by the family stated. Lieut. Spreng's death was due to burns and injuries.

Military funeral services were held, and burial was in the municipal cemetery at Asanol, India, the family was advised.

Capt. Elmer Parsel, former instructor at Mansfield airport, also met death in the same accident. Prior word received by the families had stated only that the two had died in an airplane accident in India. They were the first two known victims of World war II from this area.

MOTORISTS BEAT PRICE INCREASE

Drive Into Ohio From Two States to Get Gas For Less.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND — West Virginia and Pennsylvania motorists are driving into Ohio to purchase gasoline as much as 7½ cents cheaper than they can get it in their own states.

Signs some places on the Ohio side of the border proclaim such warnings as "get your gas now—last chance to avoid high prices." Wheeling motorists cross into this state to "fill it up" despite a ten-cent toll bridge charge each way, and some nearby Ohio stations say the ratio of West Virginia drivers is three to one.

Trade sources reported today these conditions had arisen since the latest price increases authorized in the eastern area to compensate for increased cost of hauling by railroad instead of by tanker. Rationing itself is not directly involved, for western Pennsylvania and most of West Virginia are exempt.

Generally speaking, around Wheeling the West Virginia retail price is 24.6 cents a gallon against 18 in Ohio, although a few stations charge less, making the price spread as much as 7½ cents instead of the usual 6.6 cents. An official of one leading concern, who prefers to express his opinions anonymously, said that since the maximum authorized eastern increases were 3.7 cents a gallon, tank car prices there probably were too high to start with.

"They don't have to sell that high," he declared. "The OPA sets maximums, not minimums. Competition may adjust part of the situation eventually."

YOUTH, 12, HURT WHILE COASTING

Loudonville Boy Suffers Skull Fracture in Mishap.

LOUDONVILLE — Glenn Reynolds, 12, son of Mrs. Fern Reynolds, is in Samaritan hospital at Ashland with injuries received in a coasting accident here yesterday.

Attendants who described his condition as "critical" said he suffered a fractured skull.

The accident occurred, officers said, when young Reynolds jumped from a speeding home-made coaster driven by Richard Robinson, 15, while the two were descending a steep hill.

DIES AT AGE 81

Mrs. E. A. Kauffman Lived In Ashland 65 Years.

Surviving are two sons, Waldo and James, both of Ashland, and two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m., Monday at the Denbow-Bear funeral home. Rev. P. P. Anspach, pastor of Trinity Lutheran church, of which she was a member, will officiate. Burial will be in Polk cemetery.

BICYCLE RIDER HURT

ASHLAND—William Rhoades, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Rhoades, of west of Ashland, was in Samaritan hospital here today with a fractured leg, sustained, sheriff's deputies said, when the bicycle he was riding near his home was struck by a car driven by James Biggs of Ashland. Biggs told officers that he was unable to avoid the accident when he drove over the crest of a hill.

NELSON SAYS U. S. AT WORK TO MEET RUBBER SHORTAGE PROBLEM

(By International News Service)

DETROIT — In language so democratic that no one regarded him as the czar he is, Donald M. Nelson today left this message with the world:

There is no confusion about the rubber situation in the United States—"we know exactly where we are."

Steel is needed badly, and the "days may be dark."

Industry under his re-alignment of the war production board which he rules singlehandedly will shoulder the responsibility of production, "as it should be."

But America's industrial and scientific genius, her patriotic people, and "the best soldiers in the world" will in the end bring victory over the Axis menace.

It was perhaps his strongest talk, and was given before 1,000 of the nation's automotive directors and planners at a meeting of the automotive council for war production last night.

Growing grim after smiling at a toastmaster's remark that he left a cabinet meeting in Washington to come to Detroit to get a haircut, Nelson declared:

"Believe me, the rubber question is not confused. There are some who would have it confused, but we have a program laid out—and we are going to follow it. Plans are under way to meet the rubber shortage caused by the Japs, and we know exactly where we are. If we are wrong I will take complete and final responsibility."

GUARDS MARCH

Company F Takes Part In Ashland Parade Sunday.

Members of Company F, Mansfield's unit of the Ohio State Guard, will march in a Victory parade in Ashland tomorrow as the climax of the annual convention of the Fifth district of the American Legion.

In addition to Company F, several other Ohio guard companies from northern Ohio, civilian defense units, representatives of north-central Ohio industries, and 12 American Legion bands or drum corps will take part in the parade.

Company F members will leave from the state armory at 12:30 p. m. They will be taken to Ashland in state highway trucks, according to Capt. Glenn Bierly, company commander.

The victory parade is being held in connection with the fifth district convention and a civilian defense rally being sponsored by Legion posts of the district.

FACES CHARGES

Defendant, Accused of Hitting Officer, Still In Jail.

James Jones, jr., colored, of 318 Miller street, arrested yesterday after he had allegedly struck a traffic patrolman who had attempted to take him into custody on an assault and battery complaint, today faced two assault charges and another for resisting an officer.

Police said that charges had been filed against Jones but that he would not be arraigned until next Saturday. His attorney asked the continuance this morning when Jones was scheduled to be arraigned before Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch. He is still in jail.

Jones is charged with attacking Russell Price, 65 Orchard street, and then striking Traffic Patrolman Robert Garver, who took him into custody, and escaping. Police said today that Price had been erroneously reported as being colored.

Municipal court officials said that Jones faced assault and battery charges filed by Price and Garver and a charge of resisting an officer filed by Garver.

Laff-a-Day

"It'll take a little patience to break her of the habit. She was a drum majorette!"

Mansfield Girl Scouts were on the look-out today for the "saboteurs" who, yesterday, tore down the tents set up this week on the Girl Scout day camp site in Averill's woods, used the camp sign for a target and committed other depredations while camp activities were at a standstill. The Scouts were using the honor system this week in leaving their tents while the camp was not in use but from now on will make other arrangements and one of them will possibly include a camp guard, according to Miss Eleanor Bond, executive secretary.

Mansfield motorists who have already purchased that $5 federal use stamp for their autos were warned by police today to guard them carefully. Police received a complaint from Walter Stahlheber, 255 Bowland road, that someone broke a small ventilator window in his car and removed his use stamp. Stahlheber's car was parked in a parking lot at Diamond and Marshall street when the theft occurred. Police said that several other stamps had been stolen but that this was the first official complaint they had received.

For most of the American soldiers now stationed in a camp in Northern Ireland, a recent visit from King George and Queen Elizabeth of England was a big thrill, but to a Mansfielder that visit was a serious responsibility. Dean Chatlain, second lieutenant in a tank company, was officer of the guard on the day of the visit, and was responsible for taking necessary steps to guard the royal visitors, according to a letter he sent his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Chatlain, 335 Cedar street. A guard was set up a full week before their arrival, Lt. Chatlain said in his letter. He described Queen Elizabeth as "very lovely—just as sweet and considerate as she looks," and said that King George appears shy.

Reality of the war danger is fully recognized by people living on the west coast. This is revealed in excerpts from a letter received from Louis D. Barr, former Mansfield attorney, now located at 5663 Broadway, Oakland, Calif. He says: "Practically every man who is physically fit has a job in his block. . . . Air raid wardens, fire wardens, disaster wardens, Red Cross workers and decontamination wardens are assigned to each block and these, with police, firemen, doctors, hospital nurses and attendants, all carry gas masks wherever they go. We now have our supply of gas masks coming here, also identification disks to be worn around the neck. This was the most remarkable Fourth I ever experienced—not a single firecracker fired in this whole defense area, and no other fireworks."

DAVEY PROMISES CAMPAIGN WORD

Announces He'll Make Statement On Ohio Governor Race.

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — The announcement that former Governor Martin L Davey will issue a statement on the campaign for the Democratic governorship nomination brought considerable speculation in political circles today.

Davey has been inactive in politics for more than a year. It was not disclosed whether he would announce support of one of the five candidates for the nomination or refer to the behind-the-scenes maneuvering for control of the party's state organization.

Democratic State Chairman J. Freer Bittinger said that Davey is expected to issue his statement on Tuesday.

THREATEN TO FORCE RAISE IN CEILINGS

Unionists Retaliate With Plan To 'Strike' If Charges Go Up.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The rent control sector of the government's stand against inflation, was beset today by strong pressure from organized and individual landlords in many sections of the country.

Threats from Seattle of a nation-wide gathering of property owners to force rent ceilings upward reached the office of price administration here simultaneously with news of a threatened "rent strike" by 200,000 CIO unionists in Detroit if rents were raised.

Attempted wholesale evictions were reported from New Haven, Conn., and to top it off, a suit challenging constitutionality of the whole price control act was on file in Mobile, Ala., where a property owner petitioned federal court to block enforcement of the rent freeze in that area.

For the time being, top OPA rent officials were silent on the situation.

But aside from "almost innumerable" instances of OPA lawyers rushing to court to prevent evictions arising from rent-ceiling disputes, an OPA spokesman indicated the reaction to rent controls, now covering 75 cities, was hardly more bitter than anticipated.

Only two attacks on constitutional grounds—the Mobile case and one in South Bend, Ind.—are known to have been filed, the spokesman said, and only one landlord's hardship case has so far reached Washington on appeal from the local and regional offices. This came from Seattle.

So far nobody has used the three-judge emergency court of appeals authorized under the price control act and appointed by Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone. It was indicated in Washington that OPA might ask to have the Mobile suit, filed by R. Lyles Hatter, transferred to this special tribunal.

Seek Information On Non-Essential Driving In Ohio

COLUMBUS— (AP) —The state highway department announced today that it had been asked to supply the office of defense transportation with information apparently needed to establish a policy regarding "non-essential driving" in Ohio.

The Ohio planning survey is bringing up to date information on the motoring habits of the state's drivers, but officials were not informed whether the ODT planned to invoke restrictions on automobile travel.

The request, made through the U. S. public roads administration, stated the information was needed by the ODT "in the discharge of its responsibilities in connection with motor vehicle travel during war times."

Fifty workers were assigned to study and reclassify 34,000 interviews of motorists on how much they used automobiles for business, pleasure, shopping, sports and school and church work.

TRUCKER KILLED AT GREENWICH

Chicago Driver Fatally Injured In Crossing Crash.

GREENWICH — Albert C. Dugger, 58, of Chicago, was fatally injured here yesterday afternoon when the truck he was driving was struck by a Big Four passenger train.

Glan Barre, 33, of Greenwich, another truck driver, sustained leg injuries when wreckage from Dugger's truck was thrown into Barre's vehicle by the impact.

Dugger died in Willard hospital two hours after the accident. Physicians said he suffered a fractured skull. The body was removed to the Fink funeral home and will be sent to St. Louis, Mo., for funeral services and burial.

SMOTHER LIGHTS

Akron Plants Join Successfully in Trial Blackout.

AKRON—(AP)—Summit county's first trial blackout brought out the ability of war plants to smother their lights.

Col. Robert S. Harsh of Fort Hayes, liaison officer of the fifth corps area, who viewed last night's test from a plane, said "the blacking out of the industries was as good as anything we could ask for."

the Mediterranean seeking to reinforce the German and Italian desert forces

Two hits were scored on an Italian destroyer and a 5,000-ton merchant ship was hit twice.

The air war stretched across the Mediterranean as far as Malta where, it was announced, British fighters yesterday shot down 19 Axis planes. Thirteen British planes were reported missing as a result of the engagements.

Throughout the week-long lull the British had much the better of it, carrying out continuous sorties with mobile patrols and inflicting serious damage on Axis supply lines and bases through sustained aerial attacks supported by members of the United States Army Air corps.

The battle line, starting about seven miles west of the British-held stronghold of El Alamein, 70 miles from the naval base of Alexandria, extends southward for a distance of 20 miles and then to the west. The western extremity stretched some 30 miles but continued British harassing tactics forced Rommel to shorten the line somewhat.

It may be that the heavy British pressure forced Rommel to resume opposition on a large scale for fear of being trapped along the coast. As yet it is too early to determine whether the Germans and Italians will attempt to drive the British back or if Rommel is seeking only to extricate his forces from a serious predicament.

El Alamein itself is on the northern sector along the blue waters of the Mediterranean and it is here that Rommel twice tried to smash the British Eighth army and drive eastward to the Nile delta. The reinforced British line held and brought to a halt the swift eastward advance which carried them some 350 miles in 10 days following the fall of Tobruk in Libya.

The ground fighting flared along the battle line after a day and night of heavy air attacks by British, American, South African and other Allied fliers against Axis troop concentrations, supply lines and bases.

The strength of Rommel's forces, considerably battered by the revitalized Imperial Eighth army, was not apparent. It was known, however, that the Royal Air Force a few nights ago observed Axis movement of considerable transport supplies toward El Alamein from Rommel's rear bases.

(Reports circulating in Ankara, Turkey, said that German troops, en route to Libya, had arrived in Greece. Meanwhile, it was said, Rommel was making every effort to improve his lines of communications from occupied points in eastern Europe, attempting to bring in supplies and men through the port of Tobruk and Mersa Matruh, Egypt. The troops in Greece, it was said, were to be transported via Crete where large numbers of German parachute troops long have been stationed.)

TWO SABOTEURS LINKED TO RING

Trial of 8 Nazis Expected to Be Prolonged by Legal Arguments.

ported that much of the time was spent in legal argument.

News that the trial which had expected to be ended in about a week, would be prolonged was definite. A formal statement by the military commission said:

"Counsel for both sides stated to the commission that the great volume of evidence to be introduced was expected to prolong the trial."

The three army officers who have been assigned to defend the confessed saboteurs are waging a bitter fight. They are Col. Cassius Dowell, Col. Kenneth Royall, and Col. Carl L. Ristine.

The confessions of the Nazi spies went into the trial record over the objections of the defense. The defense, it was reported, is offering one objection after another, disputing every bit of evidence, in the hope to establish grounds for some future appeal, possibly to President Roosevelt.

Attorney General Francis Biddle and Judge Advocate General Myron Cramer of the army, who are acting as co-prosecutors of the men, had the confessions read to the commission by an FBI agent who helped obtain them in a move to seal the doom of the spies.

Biddle and Cramer, fighting to establish a case that will call for the death penalty for the saboteurs, are planning to submit new and voluminous records to the court detailing the past of the prisoners and their sabotage and espionage plan before they were nabbed by the FBI.

The FBI, it was learned, has rounded up twelve more suspected German agents who were contacted by the eight saboteurs after they landed on the beaches of Long Island and Florida from German submarines.

JURY WEIGHING SEDITION COUNT

Studies Evidence Against Men Accused of Opposing Draft.

LOS ANGELES—(U.P.)—A federal court jury resumes deliberations today on the sedition conspiracy charges against Robert Noble and Ellis O. Jones.

The jury retired last night at midnight after deliberating for more than eight hours.

Noble and Jones, the latter formerly of Columbus, O., were charged with calling the draft unconstitutional, advocating impeachment of President Roosevelt, suggesting court-martial of Gen. Douglas MacArthur and declaring Japan was entitled to the Hawaiian island.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—A supreme court decision is expected soon on the Communist party's suit to compel Secretary of State John E. Sweeney to place the party's candidates on the Ohio ballot in this year's elections.

The court yesterday heard arguments on the appeal from Sweeney's decision.

prices of canned fruits, consumers would have been saved $100,000,000 to $200,000,000 ultimately.

He said it was the OPA's experience that a price increase at the source was doubled or tripled before it reached the consumer.

Discussing the question of controlling wages, Henderson told the committee he had established a policy of banning price increases by industries on the basis of pay raises granted to employes after April 27, when President Roosevelt sent his "cost of living" message to congress.

In approving the $120,000,000 appropriation for the OPA, $45,000,000 more than previously voted by the house, the senate committee wrote in several restrictions.

These included a provision directed at eliminating a 2½ cent a gallon gasoline price increase in states served by pipelines, such as Georgia, South Carolina and Florida and a prohibition against the fixing of ceilings on processed agricultural products which would act to prevent farmers from obtaining parity prices and above for their crops.

PRAISE PROCESS

Legislators Pleased With Synthetic Rubber Work.

PHILADELPHIA —(INS)— Officials of the Publicker Alcohol company of Philadelphia today were encouraged by the enthusiastic approval bestowed by a visiting senatorial subcommittee upon their secret process designed to produce 100 tons of synthetic rubber daily.

After touring the plant with nine other legislators, Sens. George W. Norris, (Ind., Neb.) and Guy M. Gillette (D., Iowa) declared they were "very much impressed" and "thoroughly convinced of the feasibility" of the production method.

The solons saw butadiene, basic ingredient of the rubber, being made by Waclaw Szukiewicz, Polish refugee inventor. In the process, which uses alcohol made from corn and wheat, a catalyst or "changer" is employed to separate the rubber constituent.

KILLER JOKES ABOUT HIS FATE

Asks For Gas Mask As He Faces Lethal Chamber Death.

LOS ANGELES —(INS)— Facing death after being convicted of murdering his parents for their insurance money, Courtney Rogers, 24-year-old church organist, joked today in the shadow of the state lethal chamber.

"I understand," he mocked, "that a condemned prisoner is granted a last request. "Well, I'll ask for a gas mask."

After he had expressed an interest in gas masks, one was brought to Rogers. He found difficulty donning it. "I'm afraid it wouldn't do me any good," he quipped grimly. "The gas would get me before I got it on."

PROBE MURDER

Authorities Investigate Brutal Killing of Expectant Mother.

TULSA, Okla. —(INS)— Authorities pressed an investigation today of the mysterious murder of Mrs. Helen Brown, pretty 21-year-old expectant mother, who was found brutally beaten in the bedroom of her home early yesterday. Mrs. Brown died 30 minutes after she was taken to a hospital.

William C. Brown, the murdered woman's husband, was taken into custody and questioned throughout the night. Early today police said the man steadfastly denied any knowledge of the crime, and said he had been at his work throughout the day.

London broadcasting that Soviet forces had counter-attacked on a sector of the Kalinin front and checked the Germans.

(But on a second sector, it said, fighting had been raging for three days and Soviet forces were liquidating a fairly heavy enemy tank column which had wedged into their defenses.

(In the last three days, one Russian aircraft unit was credited with destroying 123 German tanks and 63 planes.

(Radio Berlin said that the German air force heavily bombed Rostov last night.)

As regards the drive on Voronezh, German Col. Gen. Ewald von Kleist apparently was trying to make up for lost time and break through regardless of what it cost.

He rushed up the German 100th infantry division from Kursk, 130 miles to the east. It previously had been badly battered, and Pravda said the holes in its ranks had been plugged with untrained youths.

The major German objective this summer appears to be to reach the Volga and Stalingrad. If they continued their present tactics, Soviet observers believe it would take some time to clean up the territory behind, after the Don is crossed, and straighten their frontline, roughly 200 miles, from east of Orel southward.

Before opening the second phase of his campaign, Adolf Hitler would be compelled to secure his flanks by large forces in the Don basin and north of Orel.

Patriot Army Fights Axis On Two Fronts

ISTANBUL, Turkey — (AP) — Yugoslav patriots of General Draja Mikailovic are waging warfare on a considerable scale against German, Italian and Bulgarian forces from mountain strongholds in southern Siberia, Yugoslav official quarters here reported today.

The latests summary, received from the Serbian front on May 29, said that after a fortnight of fighting the Axis forces had failed to take a single point. The Yugoslavs were reported fighting Germans and Bulgars attacking from the east and Italians from the southwest.

The Yugoslav informants said the Axis employed an entire S. S. blackshirt elite division, some German armored units, the 16th Bulgarian division and between two and three Italian divisions.

Allied Planes Blast Main Jap China Base

CHUNGKING — (AP) — Allied planes blasted Japanese headquarters at Linchwan, main base of the enemy's drive into central Kiangsi province, "with satisfactory results" yesterday, Lieut. Gen. Joseph Stilwell's headquarters announced tonight.

The communique said two planes failed to return—the first official reference to Allied losses since the Flying Tigers of the AVG were incorporated into the U. S. air force in China.

Linchwan is in the Kiangsi area where the Chinese reported the ambush and scattering of 30,000 Japanese.

Allied bombers sank a Japanese transport in the river at Nanchang, capital of Kiangsi province, and destroyed ten Japanese planes on the ground while Chinese forces pushed the invaders back in other areas of the province, Chinese dispatches reported yesterday.

All the Allied planes returned safely from this raid—the second attack on that important Japanese base in eight days.

Jap Bombers Fail To Damage Moresby

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia—(AP)—Twenty-one Japanese bombers, escorted by eight fighters, attacked the Allied outpost at Port Moresby, New Guinea, yesterday but were kept at high altitude by anti-aircraft fire which brought down two bombers, General MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

The enemy's bombing was scattered and wild and there was no damage or casualties," a communique said.

THEY 'MAKE UP'

Cleveland Councilmen Shake Hands After Fist Fight.

CLEVELAND —(INS)— Councilman Louis A. Weinberg sported a bandage under his right eye today, a memento of last night's tumultuous council session which saw more than $1,340,000 in pay raises granted municipal employes.

According to Councilman Emil J. Crown, who inflicted the cut on Weinberg, the latter told him how to vote and "I never wanted him to tell me how to vote," said Crown.

The affair was climaxed today when the two councilmen met in city hall, shook hands and "made-up."

BANKER NAMED

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, JULY 11, 1942.

Drive carefully tomorrow—or, if you're riding with someone else, pass the idea along.

Always wait until you are asked before giving advice—in that way you will be able to keep a good supply on hand.

Statistic: "Production of chewing tobacco in the United States in 1941 was a little over 11 ounces for every man, woman and child"—another instance of unequal distribution.

Where's That Synthetic Rubber?

A LEGITIMATE activity for the department of public information would be issuance of a frank, concise and honest statement of the rubber situation, covering immediate and probable military and civilian needs, present and prospective supplies of natural and synthetic rubber, and explanation of delays in producing appreciable quantities of synthetics.

Warning by President Roosevelt that the government may have to requisition tires from privately-owned cars fits in with the generally approved idea of putting the war effort first, but in order to win public approval of such a drastic move it is surely obligatory to explain reasons and to give assurance that this is not another instance of political or bureaucratic bungling.

Danger of a rubber shortage could be foreseen long before Pearl Harbor and experiments with substitutes had also progressed to a point of satisfactory use in a small way.

For a time there were optimistic predictions of a sufficient supply of synthetic rubber coming along to meet military and reasonable civilian needs, then a snag was hit in the form of arguments as to materials to be used, and the whole program became enmeshed in political squabbling and business rivalry.

If tires must be taken from every car in the United States in order to win the war—ALL RIGHT—but the people have a right to know WHY this may be necessary.

Overdue Charge Accounts 'Frozen'

THOSE sometimes neglected "charge accounts" at retail stores are likely to be given more serious attention from now on, as credit customers begin to realize the extent to which new federal regulations are prescribing just how merchants must handle such accounts.

If, for instance, a credit customer bought merchandise in May on which there was an unpaid balance July 10, that account is "frozen," which means that no further credit can be extended by the store until the May obligation has been cleared.

An odd thing about this regulation is that it applies to the so-called "best" customers, who, however, are sometimes most lax in paying their bills, as well as to those who are accustomed to being harried by collectors.

Then there's another point. A "frozen" account becomes common knowledge at all stores and an account cannot be opened at another store until the bill has been paid, which restores the account to good standing.

Books of stores will be open to federal inspection and merchants can follow no other course than the one prescribed.

Regular installment buying is unaffected, although the length of time has been shortened for such purchases and the rules made more rigid.

Cities Clamp Down On Gamblers

KEEPING bingo "out of sight of the public," as was ordered in Mansfield several months ago, doesn't appear to be in accord with interpretation of the law in some other Ohio cities and counties.

In Toledo, for instance, bingo cards and equipment were ordered destroyed after a police judge found the operators guilty of promoting a gambling game, and a Lorain county grand jury reported out-of-county promoters were operating bingo games and ordered the sheriff to clamp down on all forms of "organized gambling." The jury asserted: "Bingo games are expanding beyond the confines of religious and chartered fraternal organizations."

In Columbus police vice squad members made thirty raids on gambling places within a few days and seized slot machines ranging from penny cigaret machines to the 25-cent "one-armed bandits."

In Akron this week ten reputed "big shot" gamblers were taken into custody by the police in a sudden sweep through more notorious gambling places.

Statewide concentration of action against gambling has the appearance of being a concerted move to divert to the purchase of war savings bonds at least a part of the immense amount of money that has been flowing into the hands of gambling racketeers.

To Check Faulty Auto Lighting

ANNOUNCEMENT by Traffic Commissioner Boals that greater attention will hereafter be given to automobiles that are not properly lighted, touches on a law infraction that has been too long neglected in this vicinity, and elsewhere in Ohio.

Driving after nightfall with only one headlight showing, or without a tail-light, has become common practice—because little if any effort at enforcement has been made.

Notification to offenders to have faulty lights repaired within 48 hours, should bring considerable improvement over non-enforcement, but this also allows plenty of time for the kind of an accident that insufficient lighting sometimes causes.

Opening For Indigent Lawyers

THE QUESTION, what to do with surplus lawyers, has at last found an answer. There are admittedly too many lawyers for their own good. Too many youths dream of dignified, well-paid careers, only to find themselves sitting day after day in empty offices, waiting for clients who never come.

Now the war has found a way out. Be lawyers by day and war workers by night. A western bar association suggests that course in a questionnaire it has just sent out, asking how many would be willing to do so. A "liberal return" of favorable replies has already been received, the association reports. It points out that the law offices could remain open days as usual, and the wherewithal to keep them open could be obtained at night.

OUR GROUND CREW AIDS THE FLIGHT

Hitler Fails to Germanize Brazil

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

HERR HITLER was wrong, perhaps by genuine mistake, in his recent statement, attributed to him in German broadcasts, to the effect that anti-Axis riots in Brazil were not generally speaking, representative of popular sentiment, throughout the biggest of the Latin-American republics.

Vargas

The Berlin account was that Adolf is tired of having Nazi residents persecuted, that he blames Foreign Minister Oswaldo Aranha, that he warned President Vargas to put an extinguisher on Signor Aranha or he'll be dealt with summarily and that he reminded the Rio de Janeiro chief executive of his country's essential pro-German sympathies, rather hinting that his folk will revolt otherwise.

Now, as previously remarked, maybe the Fuehrer actually is mistaken.

The southeastern corner of Brazil, is, as a matter of fact, as solidly Germanly colonized as any area I ever saw outside the Reich itself. Land at Puerto Alegro, for instance, and you'll have trouble in making yourself understood, at the average place of business in anything but German. For some distance up-country things are equally Teutonic.

My guess is that this is the locality Adolf gets his Brazilian advices from. No wonder he's somewhat misinformed, if so.

An Early Mistake.

The Germans, in that particular spot, themselves erred early in the game. Aware that President Vargas was anti-Axis, they undertook to perpetrate a national pro-German uprising and the fashion in which Signor Vargas sat on it and exterminated its would-be leaders was a caution. The very fact that they headed quite a faction was an important reason for squashing 'em aplenty in their incipiency.

It's as if Boss Hague undertook to launch an independence movement in New Jersey. If he hadn't any strength there, nobody'd notice him. But he HAS, so it's a lot more vital to abolish him than it would be if he were of no consequence.

Boss Hague, though, isn't of North American significance. Untied Statedly speaking. Neither are the southern Germans, at the lower end of Brazil or down in the Argentine, where they're also rather numerous. Indeed, the sassier they are, the stronger the disposition is to suppress 'em.

And they ARE ugly up and down that east coast.

In this country we've got 'em pretty fully assimiliated. Down there they've retined oodles of their original nationality. They've an ambition to Germanize the whole strip, from the Equator southward.

That's one of the bugs Herr Hitler had up his sleeve—a coup d'etat in the New World.

He's overdone it.

His game was to move from West African Dakar into eastern Latin America and eastern Latin America hasn't fallen for it.

It would have been terrible if we'd still been bent on gobbling the whole of the western hemisphere, but now we're protective, not New World grabbers.

The Latin-American west coast's a different thing.

Over there the Japs are the menace.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Tuesday, July 11, 1922.

Farewell reception was given at St. Mark's Lutheran church for Rev. J. E. Zimmerman, departing pastor.

TODAY IN HISTORY

John Quincy Adams, son of President John Adams, was born in that part of the old town of Braintree that is now the City of Quincy, Mass., on July 11, 1767. Adams was instrumental in negotiating the Florida purchase and in formulating the Monroe Doctrine. He was chosen president by the house of representatives even though Jackson had received the highest number of electoral votes in the election. After his presidential term he was elected to the house of representatives.

A Lady Is Sore

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

SHE'S SORE at the newspapers. Why can't we come straight out and tell what's happening? Being a sensible woman, she doesn't expect to know all the details but she would like to know the main drift of affairs.

She has given two boys to this war and her husband has had to leave the ranch they have occupied for thirty years and take up factory defense work. That's a pretty large hunk of hope and happiness for any woman to invest in a war. She isn't giving way to self-pity or griping. But she certainly thinks she should know more about what's really happening. And she can't understand why the newspapers don't give her the dope—why the comments are all so vague or evasive.

AND I AGREE WITH HER A MILLION.

Thousands of honest, square-hitting men and women are asking the same questions, and come what may, I'm going to try to give them an honest answer. I'll probably get my knuckles knocked down plenty by some governmental Poo-Bah. But it will be worth the price, just to say the truth for once.

Why don't you get more of the straight dope, Mr. and Mrs. America?

It's not because the papers couldn't or wouldn't or don't want to give it to you.

IT'S BECAUSE WASHINGTON HAS FORGOTTEN—OR NEVER REALIZED—THAT THIS COUNTRY IS RUN FOR THE COMMON PEOPLE AND NOT BY OR FOR A GESTAPO.

Of course we can't know all the low-down. We can't give details which will aid the enemy or bring panic to our own hearts. There must be such decent precautions as are observed in any civilized home. And every sane citizen will agree with these facts.

But it's not sane to restrict the great newspapers of this country to ga-ga and goo. A free press is one of our fondest and most treasured perquisites. Without it no democracy can exist. Free Americans have a right to know and discuss facts even if they don't agree. It's their war. They are paying the price in blood and sweat, in hard-wrung cash and tears. They are paying the price because they believe in democracy. And their newspapers should be able to endorse and express that spirit of democracy. But they can't do it! They can't do it because this country is being run by petty plutocrats rather than by great-hearted, great-visioned men and women.

I am not indicting the administration for this situation, nor any one member of the administration, although I think many of them would be swell street-sweepers instead of administrators. But I am telling you this with all the wallop I can pack.

THE NEWSPAPERS OF AMERICA ARE NOT TO BLAME BECAUSE YOU DO NOT GET THE LOW-DOWN. THEY ARE BEING CRAMPED AND CRIPPLED ON EVERY SIDE BY EDICTS FROM SMARTIES WHO KNOW NOTHING OF THE NATIONAL NEED. WE ARE FIGHTING HITLER, BUT ACTUALLY WE ARE BOWING TO AN INCREASING DESPOTISM WHICH IS AS RUTHLESS AND STUPID AND DEMORALIZING AS ANYTHING HITLER EVER CREATED.

The free press and the free soul are the two greatest institutions in America. They are the two things which set our government apart from every other nation. And whether you know it or not, we are gradually losing these prerogatives today. Our papers are fast becoming as shakled as our individual careers. The re no longer exists a 100 per cent free press in the U. S. A.

So you want more news? More truth? Then start yelling for it! No one will hand you your right on a silver platter; you've got to fight for them . . . fight for them as surely here in your home town press as you will in Libya, Berlin or the Philippines!

Secrecy Shrouds Saboteur Trial, FBI Moves Against Bund Leaders

—By ASSOCIATED PRESS

AN EXAMPLE of the extreme to which secrecy can be maintained in the United States, when occasion justifies, is seen in methods of procedure connected with the military trial of the eight Nazi saboteurs, captured by the FBI at east coast points after having been landed from submarines.

Terse statements from the trial room told no more than that the trial was in progress and witnesses being examined. Elmer Davis, head of the office of war information, thought the secrecy was being overdone and asked for brief bulletins revealing progress.

Americans of the thirties saw irony in the fact that federal officials used income tax evasion charges to bag racketeers such as Al Capone.

Now the department of justice is out to wipe out the German-American Bund. To accomplish it, the department is accusing many of the bundsmen of violating the Selective Service Act.

For example, Gerhard Wilhelm Kunze, acting "fuehrer" of the bund, was arrested while in hiding in Mexico where he was suspected of being involved in a plot to give the Axis military information. He was later arraigned in Connecticut on charges of violating the 1917 Espionage Act. But when he was flown from Mexico to the U. S. he was first haled before a New York federal court and charged with failing to notify his local draft board of his whereabouts. For this oversight he was held on a whooping-big $50,000 bail.

Likewise, bund leaders all over the nation were confronted with indictments charging them with conspiring to evade the draft, conspiring to counsel bund members to resist armed service.

"We intend to put the bund out of business," said U. S. Attorney Mathias Correa. Nominally, the bund has been defunct since the outbreak of war, but Correa said it is operating underground. "Singing societies" and "athletic clubs," said Correa, were the new fronts for the undercover bund.

Quotes

Lieut. Gen. Brehon Somervell: "We've taken a terrible shellacking all around the globe. So far we've lost everything but our smugness. The things that yet have to be done are appalling."

Owen J. Roberts, Supreme Court justice, stresses unity: "Once let the tide of nationalistic prejudice and suspicion sweep over us, and we are lost to the enemy. That is why those who criticize Britain for her mistakes, without knowing all the facts, are endangering their lives and our lives as well."

At Home

Where to Get the Rubber?

The cold fact about the production of synthetic rubber is that, despite herculean efforts, only 25,000 to 30,000 tons are expected this year. Next year only about 300,000 tons will be turned out. By 1944 the rate should be up to 800,000 tons. That is the very earliest that there may be any synthetic rubber at all for the average civilian.

As the program now stands, about three-fourths of the synthetic rubber is to come from use of a petroleum base and the remainder from use of alcohol.

Farm Senators haven't liked this ratio, feel that more of the rubber should be made from grain alcohol. They said the process is simpler, besides using grain.

But WPB Chairman Nelson stepped heavily on any suggestion of more alcohol distilleries. He said such construction would require badly needed copper and steel. However, he said he was rushing plans to convert whisky distilleries to make grain alcohol.

On the salvage side of the rubber picture appeared a hint by Petroleum Coordinator Ickes that, with collections way under expectation, nation-wide gasoline rationing might have to be tried.

Farm Furore.

For July, at least, there would be funds to pay department of agriculture workers. And for July, at least, the government could sell grains it holds at prices below the parity figure.

Those were the conditions of a stop-gap measure sent to the White House to permit the agriculture department to function during the first month of the fiscal year, while senate and house continued to wrangle over the year's $680,000,000 fund.

Holding up the works in the big bill was a provision allowing sale of government-controlled grains at below-parity prices. The house four times had voted against such sales and the senate had insisted on them.

The president backs sales of grain at low prices for feeding purposes, says the provision is necessary to assure adequate supplies of pork, beef, milk, chickens and eggs at prices that won't puncture present ceilings or require government subsidy.

Flying Battleship.

Commander Clarence A. Schildauer of the navy's air transport service watched the huge plane, its wingspread 2-3 the length of a football field, as it lifted from the blue waters of Chesapeake bay, climbed surely toward the blue skies.

"There," said the commander, "is the means for daily delivery of fighting men and fighting materials to any point in the world. The era of air borne transport is at hand."

The "Mars," 70-ton flying battleship built by the Glenn L. Martin company, was off on its successful test flight, in the air after a 30-second takeoff run across the bay.

It has space for 150 men, could hold enough gas to fly to Europe and back. Heavily armored, boasting great gunpower, the Mars "cannot be shot down unless her wings literally are shot off," says Martin. Ships of the Mars type, he believes, could be delivered within two years.

WPB's 'Umpire' Duties.

The fast growing U. S. war production machine, Donald Nelson explained, is eating up raw materials at a rate that has created shortages in almost every conceivable material. New task of his "realigned" WPB, he said, would be to act as an "umpire" in determining allocation of available supplies to meet civilian and military needs.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Let's deal a few off the cuff today and talk about dirt. Maybe smut is a better word. In show business, dirt is often called "low comedy." Burlesque is supposed to be dirty, or filled with "low comedy," but so, frequently, is high drama.

Some months ago Commissioner Moss kicked burlesque off the boards. Ninety-nine percent of the editors and writers and commentators bitterly assailed Moss for doing this. It was censorship. It was witch-hunting. You can't outlaw smut. You can certainly throw a lot of people out of employment by closing theaters, but you can't improve their morals.

Now, the other day a show called "Stars and Garters" opened on Broadway. This wasn't burlesque—in name. It was a "Revue," or "Vaudeville show."

OF COURSE, this is strictly baloney. It is burlesque and nothing else. All the noted strip dancers are in it. All the old ex-burlesque clowns are in it. They do everything in this show that burlesque ever dared to do, and then some, yet Commissioner Moss hasn't raised his voice against it. Don't get me wrong. I'm not against it. I wasn't against burlesque. But you should remember this: Burlesque shows cost only about 40 cents. This revue costs $2.75. Bedroom gags are "immoral" at 40 cents, but they're strictly okay at $2.75. This means that a premium has been placed on dirt. The poor people, who can only afford 40 cents, have been "saved," but if you can spend $2.75 the smutty stories about the traveling salesman and the farmer's daughter won't hurt you. At 40 cents, Commissioner Moss finds strip dancers dirty and revolting. At $2.75 their art is "sophistication."

In the old burlesque days those ladies of the strip tease art, Miss Georgia Sothern and Miss Gypsy Rose Lee, were famous. What they did was take off their clothes in a deliberate, (some say provocative) manner, but I wonder. They disrobed to music, while dancing back and across the stage, and the names they were called by our indignant censors would make your hair curl. Of course, the shows, being frankly burlesque and pretending to be nothing else, cost about 40 cents.

BUT in "Stars and Garters," this same Miss Georgia Sothern, and this same Miss Gypsy Rose Lee do the same old thing, to the same old tunes, in the same old (provocative?) way, and nobody is calling them names.

Bobby Clark, the clown, is an old burlesque graduate. He was funny in the Minsky 40 cent days. And he is funny today. But much of his material is identical with that used by him in the rich burlesque days right after the war.

If the public wants burlesque outlawed, okay, outlaw it. But don't put a premium on it. Don't take it away from a guy because he's only got 40 cents.

Abroad

Breathing Spell.

In Egypt, and all the way back to Tobruk and Bengasi, Allied planes played havoc with German supply lines and bases, while the English reportedly moved up what reinforcements they could muster without much interference from the skies.

In Alexandria, just a short auto drive behind the battle front, cafes and other entertainment spots were crowded, and in the two English daily newspapers the war got little more space than the day's cricket matches.

Meanwhile, the two armies jabbed and jockeyed, with heavy artillery taking care of most of the ground warfare while leaders rested and reorganized for more decisive doings.

Battered Malta.

Over Malta, near the middle of the Mediterranean, the Axis once more stepped up its air raids to high pitch. In 24 hours Allied planes knocked down 24 enemy craft, a fact which observers said indicated that Germany was trying to protect the shipment of supplies across the Mediterranean to Bengasi or Tobruk and on to the exhausted Nazis in Egypt.

Hope In the Air.

"Chinese farmers whose forefathers built the great wall today are building airfields that one day will serve as springboards for aerial attacks against Japan."

So, in a special bulletin issued on the fifth anniversary of the beginning of the war with Japan, did the Chinese government sound a new note of hope, a new note prompted perhaps by what promised to become full-scale air opposition against the Japanese over China.

The American Air Force in China, on the same day, had issued Communique No. 1. It reported raids on Hankow, Nanchang, and Canton within three days, told of the sinking of a Japanese gunboat. American Volunteer Group fliers, who became members of the regular army with the formal beginning of the new unit, had accompanied the newly arrived airmen on their raids.

Steadied and encouraged by the prospect of air help, Chinese forces rallied along the Chekiang-Kiangsi railroad, asserted they still held 25 miles of the span a week after the Japanese had reported the entire line was within their hands.

Thrust at Moscow?

Although experts agreed that the pattern of the Nazi campaign in Russia seemed to shape up with the Caucasus as the main objective, Hitler's propaganda sources were doing their best to keep the Soviets—and the rest of the allied world—jittery about which way the German machine intended to wheel once it got moving east in high gear.

Circulating by a round-about way out of Germany came the report that feeler thrusts in the Kalinin area northwest of Moscow were really preliminaries to a drive on the Soviet capital which would be timed to meet the other half of the pincers coming up from the Voronezh area.

Even though Germany's prime need right now is oil—and that oil is to the south—some observers figured that Hitler's vanity might send the Germans north in an attempt to bag Moscow.

Lawton S. Parker, noted portrait painter, was one of 600 passengers who spent Independence Day aboard the diplomatic exchange liner Drottningholm while 150 government, army and navy men questioned them about credentials. Parker has lived in France for the past 21 years. As he left the ship next day Parker grumbled that he had gone through a great deal in Europe, "but there was nothing done there that compared to the handling of the people on the Drottningholm."

High Priced Holiday.

The 12 convicts, explained J. H. Dowling, chief engineer of Florida's road department, thought they were being worked too hard.

So, to be sure they wouldn't have to work for a few days, at least, each slashed the hamstring tendon in one leg.

Later, in the state prison hospital, they learned that if the tendons failed to knit properly they would be crippled for life.

Ohio Fuel Gas Company Gives Advice on Planning War Diets

Home Service Unit Cites Need For Vegetables

Battles are being fought in China, Russia, Egypt and all of the Seven Seas but right here in Mansfield employes in the Home Service department of the Ohio Fuel Gas company are helping to wage war on still another front—the nutrition front

Through Miss Pauline Schofield, home service representative, the Gas company brings the latest news and techniques in the "nutrition for defense" plan to build stronger and more healthy Americans.

Miss Schofield, a graduate of home economics at Ohio State university, helps housewives in Mansfield, Ashland Shelby, Willard, Galion Crestline, Mt Gilead and Marion learn the latest news on the "food for fitness" campaign

Miss Schofield has set up nutrition centers in all of the cities in the Mansfield district and valuable information and literature may be secured at these centers

Questions on nutrition will be answered by Miss Schofield at the various nutrition centers. When she is not present, visitors may leave questions or suggestions and will receive their answers by mail.

In addition to this, the Gas company issues a monthly bulletin to help housewives conserve of the use of food without wasting vitamins

Acts as Clearing House

The nutrition center at any of the Gas company offices in the Mansfield area also serves as a clearing house for information on nutrition classes being held in this vicinity

Nutrition classes are taught under the direction of the Red Cross or civilian defense councils. Persons contacting the nutrition center who are interested in joining one of these nutrition classes may leave their name and address and will be notified when a new class is being formed

Miss Schofield, Mansfield home service representative, is experienced in the work of handling foods Before coming to Mansfield, she taught home economics in public schools

The main office of the Ohio Fuel Gas company is in Columbus The company employs 14 home service department members who are located at Mansfield Columbus, Toledo, Springfield, Elyria, Fremont Newark, Athens, Cambridge and Findlay

At the nutrition center at the Gas company office at Park avenue and Mulberry street, housewives can get monthly nutrition bulletins, pamphlets on war work, monthly recipe sheet and bulletins helping them to plan adequate diets.

In planning an adequate diet, Miss Schofield suggests that vegetables be used sufficiently.

"Vegetables are classed among the protective foods," says Miss Schofield, "and are important in the regulation of body processes

Vegetables Needed

"Every day, everyone needs at least three fresh vegetables and a potato. If they eat these they get starches and sugars for energy, proteins for building, minerals such as calcium, iron, iodine, copper, and phosphorous, vitamins A, B, C, E, and G, bulk, help to keep alkaline balance and a variety in their meals To get vitamin D, sunshine or one of the cod liver oils is necessary."

According to Miss Schofield, the first important step is in the selection and purchase of the foods To get the most for your money, she suggests the five following rules

1 Patronize a market which has a daily turnover of fresh vegetables Remember that wilted products are lower in vitamin value.

2 Choose fresh, firm vegetables to avoid waste.

3 Buy by the pound if possible.

4 Select vegetables when they are less expensive.

5 Take home the tops of beets, turnips and use them

"But selection is not the only important step in getting the most out of your food," says Miss Schofield. "Adequate storage and proper preparation is also important. In storing foods, it is important to keep a constant check on them to make sure that spoilage will be prevented from spreading.

"The important nutrients found in vegetables may be lost through careless methods of preparation and cooking Some minerals are readily dissolved out in cooking water and unless this liquid is used, they are wasted."

Cooking charts giving the proper time for cooking vegetables are available at the nutrition centers of the Gas company in the Mansfield area

Helpful Hints

Among the hints given to housewives by Miss Schofield to assure the most benefit from vegetables are these

1 Vegetables should be prepared just before cooking so that cut surfaces are not long exposed to air. Do not soak peeled vegetables in water before cooking

2. Cooking vegetables in their skin helps preserve food value.

3 Do not use soda in cooking green vegetables as it destroys vitamins

4 Cook vegetables in a small amount of water in as short a time as possible

5 Frying foods causes a great loss of vitamins A, B and C.

6 Utilize any liquid remaining on fresh cooked or canned vegetables in making soups, gravies and stews

"Winning the war is everyone's job," says Miss Schofield. "You can do your part right in your own home by making your own family strong, by selecting and serving the foods that will keep them healthy, happy, alert and fit."

CHOICE OF WINE SHOULD DEPEND ON HOST'S LIKES

Weaver's Home Supply Urges That You Serve the Wines 'You Like' at Meals.

What wines "go" with what foods has raised more questions than Professor Quiz. But Sherman Weaver, proprietor of Weaver's Home Supply Service, 59 South Diamond street, feels that the best rule is to serve the wine "you like" with the food you like.

"However, just as mint sauce "goes" with roast lamb and brown gravy with roast beef because they taste better together," says Weaver, "so certain wines do taste better with one food than another."

By and large, Mansfielders, like most Americans prefer a dry, red wine, such as claret or burgundy with red meats, according to Weaver With white meats, oysters or fish, a dry white wine is preferred. With desserts, the sweeter wines such as port or muscatel are favored.

"Though one type of wine is enough for any meal—and entirely correct," says Weaver, "we can present you a chart that gives the story of what wines taste better with what foods and the temperatures at which each wine's flavor its fullest.

AMUSING PLAY GIVEN FOR CLUB PROGRAM

Mansfield Garden Club Members Enjoy Dramatic Presentation at Bowers Home; Buckeye Members Are Guests.

TALENTS WERE TURNED from gardening to drama when Mrs. William Bowers and Mrs. Hamilton Walker entertained the Mansfield Garden club yesterday at the former's home on Dickson parkway. Presentation of a clever play, "It Was A Lovely Meeting," provided a very enjoyable program. Two guests had roles in the play. They were Mrs. H. B. Sanford and Mrs. Harry Cave.

Mrs. Sanford represented the committee chairman, Mrs. Reed, who was a timid and helpless person. Her friend and aide, Mrs. Smithers, "a kind, sensible and clever woman," was portrayed by Mrs. Wallace Campbell. The role, Mrs. Crane, "a young, smartly dressed and trifle malicious person" was enacted by Mrs. Cave. Mrs. Walter appeared as "the bluff and downright energetic" Mrs. Merck. The "highly esthetic" member of the committee was Mrs. Van Dyne, represented by Mrs. Charles Jelliff.

Wearing a gown which had been Mrs William Hahn's attire at President McKinley's inauguration, Mrs Stanley Schiller appeared as Mrs Clemens, "oldest in the group and inclined to remember it." Mrs. Perkins, "who was kind and practical, but able to hold her own," was portrayed by Mrs. Carville Gorman. "Young and giggly, but not as silly as she sounds," was Miss Nellie Renshaw, represented by Mrs. Ephraim Brown. Mrs. Alan Tappan had the role of Mrs. Jones, "who was aggressive and disappointed about not heading the committee —out to make trouble and afraid of no one."

Guests for the tea were members of the Buckeye Garden club Mrs Gorman and Mrs. Brown presided at the table which was centered with a lovely flat arrangement of white flowers flanked by tall white tapers. A picnic has been planned for July 24 with the following in charge of the program: Mrs. Leo Perl, Mrs. Scott Coffin, Mrs Campbell Mrs Charles Schroer and Mrs. Frederick Crouse.

Neckwear Takes Washing Care

As quaint as the daguerreotype in which they first made their appearance many years ago, are the rippling jabots and fichus which the 1942 styles have brought back into fashion No suit or dress seems complete without its frothy bit of snowy neckwear fastened by a piece of antique jewelry or one of the bright-stoned modern pins. Lace alone, or in combination with organdie and other dainty fabrics, is used for the neckwear

Two or three wearings are all these little wisps can take without intermediate washing. They are too fragile for rough handling, but they can be laundried beautifully if a delicate touch is applied. Let them soak for about ten minutes in warm, but not hot, soapy water This will loosen the soil Transfer the jabot to a pan of fresh lukewarm suds and press it up and down, or put it into a covered jar filled with lukewarm suds and shake the jar like a cocktail shaker.

Rinse in clear water. Unless the fabric has a permanent starch finish, dip it into a weak starch solution Ease the jabot back into its ripply form and let it dry to an even dampness Iron on the wrong side A toy iron or a small traveling iror gets into the gathers more readily than the standard-sized iron, but the larger iron can turn out a nice job too, with a little care Dickeys, bibs, and other straight pieces, are plain sailing of course, but don't shy away from the frills just because they are a little more trouble They have so much extra glamour value that they are worth the little added care it takes to get them back into condition.

Culottes and Slacks Go to Market

By SUSAN BARDEN
(International Illustrated News Writer)

The days of long motor trips, daytime trips to the beach, and even short hops down to the store are all gone for the duration. What with the shortage of rubber and gasoline, most people are keeping the family car right in the garage except for very important occasions.

The American woman who used to go marketing or to the country in her car is now going to stay at home, or she is going to have to walk or bicycle. At first this may seem like hard lines, but this department predicts that when time for buying fall clothes comes the ladies who were plump in summer will find they have sylph-like figures and by the time cool weather comes, and will thank the national emergency for streamlining them.

Most of our adult population haven't been bicycling since they were children, but they are going to learn how much fun it is all over again and go in for it just as keenly as the grown-ups do in England.

Naturally going places via the pedaling method requires specially designed outfits, so today we are going to show a choice of three costumes that would be particularly suitable, smart and comfortable.

Snap Closings Do It.

The dark blue culottes shown in one of the above photographs are called "Dual-Control," and were designed by Aviatrix Mary Sanson to use while piloting her plane, but they have become so popular that they are now sold to women for bicycling They are perfect for the business girl who wants to ride her bike to work The secret is in the unique snap closings, which are invisible when the garment is on and when snapped up make it into a skirt. It is designed so that when worn as either culottes or a skirt, your slip hangs smooth and straight underneath—and no one would ever imagine that Dual-Control, when worn as a skirt, is actually convertible into practical and sporty culottes

The white culotte suit is also excellent for country wear. It is attractively fashioned in a crisp, washable repp made from spun rayon in the new summer flower tones—blues, pinks, greens, yellows and other becoming pastels. A tricky overlap of the material makes the culottes look exactly like a skirt.

The slacks suit in the other picture is the smart answer for girls who just naturally prefer trousers to culottes. It was designed by Clarepotter, and is beautifully tailored with patch pockets on the jacket and a fly-front closing You'll wear them in the garden, at the beach club, lounging around the house and at your war-time jobs They are best in light, natural colors, gray or beige, with some bright splash or accessory, stripes or plaids for kerchief and moccasins.

LODGE PLANS PICNIC.

The regular monthly meeting of the Pythian Sisters was held last evening at the K. of P hall. Mrs. Mary Charles, most excellent chief, was in charge. A picnic will be held at North Lake park for Knights and Ladies of Pythias, July 17, with supper at 6 p. m. Committee in charge of arrangements will be, Mrs. Miriam Hoffman, Mrs Margaret Brower and Mrs. Ethel Smith. The next meeting will be August 14 at the K of P. hall.

A Man's Woman + + +

CHAPTER XXIX

Standing on the porch in the dim light from the hall Kay thought, 'Am I dreaming?' Is this a night mare I've been having? The urgent telegram . . . the flight from New York . . . a frightful dream? But no! I'm here Me in the flesh Mother in the flesh Shes like she always is, dear and sweet and lovable. There's nothing wrong with mother There cant be unless—'

Kay demanded, taking her mother's hands, searching her mother's face for she knew not what, 'Have you been ill darling? You haven't been in an accident or some sort of trouble? You must tell me, Mother. You must'

"But theres nothing to tell, daughter.' Obviously, Ellen Kenyon was bewildered by Kays intensity. 'I'm the one who should be asking questions Why are you here, without even letting me know you were coming? Why are you so excited, as if something dreadful had happened? Has it dear? What is it? You frighten me' Ellen was trembling

Kay fought to clear her mind of its clouds of doubt, of terror A flash of light and in it, a revelation! Aunt Cora The telegram was a hoax Aunt Cora had sent it deliberately to bring her back to Somerset Aunt Cora knew such a message would be answered in person, without question, without a moment's delay.

But why? Why would Aunt Cora want her here, at home, when she was a constant thorn to the embittered woman, and to Elsa? Elsa . . . Ronnie! Of course. Here was the answer Aunt Cora and Elsa knew Ronnie was in New York. Would they dare use such a base ruse to get him back within their own orbit? Reason told Kay they would dare. The prize was worth the risk.

"I'm here because I'm here, darling," she said in relief rubbing her firm young cheek against her mother's withering one. "I'm fit to fight and raring to go. Ronnie was flying home so I came along for the ride. We're starved. Anything in the icebox?'

She knew the problem of whisking together a bite of supper would divert her mother's mind from Kay's sudden arrival.

'Theres baked ham for sandwiches Ellen was a happy mother-bird, chirping 'And fresh doughnuts I made them this afternoon I'll have the coffee ready in no time.

Kay turned to see Ronnie leaning against a porch pillar, watching this inexplicable scene as though he too were escaping a dream.

She said in a rush of apology, 'I'm sorry, Ron Seeing mother well and safe drove everything else out of my mind Shes all right Ron Mothers all right Shes fine' . . . Are they really your own home-made doughnuts Mummy? Lets taste'

Ellen Kenyon went smiling to her task The moment she was gone Ronnie said shaking his head as though he had just come out from under water, 'Well I'll be'

Sash' Kay put her finger to her lips Then, gaily, 'Come in chum We eat, at last'

Kay kept up a running fire of chatter while supper was being placed on one end of the big dining room table Back of the lightness and laughter she was thinking thinking What would she do now? Turn around and hurry back to New York as fast as she could get there, hoping National Candy would forgive her precipitant departure and take her on again? Mr. Burge was not one easily to forgive an offense. Then, too, there was the matter of the misleading telegram There was a score to settle with Aunt Cora If Aunt Cora dared go to such length, what next?

Kay and Ronnie were making swift inroads into Ellen's plate of doughnuts when Cora matched into the dining room, battle flags flying

So you're here,' she said, stopping beside Kay. 'It's high time, my lady Every tongue in town wagging about the way you got Ronald Farnsworth to follow you to New York and your mother acting like she's crazy half the time'

Ronnie said, with so much suppressed violence behind his words that even Cora Kenyon drew back before it.

"You can skip the crack about me I don't lure easily. Going to New York was my own idea. I went there to try to persuade Kay to marry me Put that in the town bulletin for the busybodies to lick their lips over"

"You—you—asked her to marry you? Cora gasped. Then rallying. 'Don't you speak to me like I was dirt under your feet, Ronald Farnsworth. You're in my house and I'll thank you to treat me like a lady'

Ronnie said, his lips gone white. Be a lady and you'll be treated like one'

Please please—" Ellen Kenyon quavered

Kay said, with a quiet purpose, 'Ronnie, if you don't mind, there's something I must discuss with Aunt Cora now . . . alone"

Ronnie rose He said, "Yes, of course. I'll run along Sure you don't want me to wait, outside? Or come back later, just in case?"

'No Kay said "I'll manage. And thanks—for everything"

See you in the morning then Meantime I'll be home. A ring will bring me here in five minutes."

* * *

Kay waited until she heard the screen door close. Then she took the crumpled piece of yellow paper from her pocket and handed it to her mother. "Read it, dear," she said, gently 'It's my reason for being home."

In Ellen's hand the paper was shaking and rustling like a dry leaf in the wind

'Cora'" Her voice was no more than a whisper. "Oh Cora . . . you sent this . . . to my daughter?"

"Yes I sent it," Cora said defiantly, almost boastfully. 'I'm glad I did It's time somebody with enough spunk to keep 'em took hold of this family."

'But why Cora, why? It isn't true It's a lie.'

So I'm a liar, am I?" Cora said loudly. "Well ain't that too bad? I got a right to look out for my own, aint I? You and your dotter lordin' it over us like we was trash You, handin' out Kenyon pennies like they was gold pieces, selling the very roof from over our heads. I warned you I'd never let you put us out in the street. This house belongs to the Kenyons. Its ours as much as its yours, even if Jim Kenyon did cheat his own brother out of it. I'll show you . . ."

"That will be all!" Kay faced the infuriated Cora She must control herself But how could she, with this unspeakable woman bandying her father's name? Steady steady. 'Kindly keep your voice down, Aunt Cora. If we must brawl, let's brawl in private. Now then, Mother, what is this all about?'

"Yes, tell her," Cora taunted. 'Tell her what you're aimin' to do to us? Tell her how you want to put your own people out on the street."

'Cora!" Ellen said plaintively. 'How can you say such cruel things? You know I don't want to put any of us out. I want all of us to stay here under our own roof. How can we? We can't keep it up We haven't the money. The place is falling to pieces. We can't have Kay taking care of all of us four grown people.

"Daughter, your father's cousin, Richard Kenyon, came to see me last week. He lives in Chicago. He spent a great deal of time here as a boy and as a young man when his grandparents lived in this house. He's getting on in years. He'd like to come back here again, to live here part of the time He's a very wealthy man He'd buy the place or lease it, just as I please. He'll fix it up as good as new and pay us whatever we ask I didn't think we could afford to overlook such an offer Goodness knows if we'll ever have such a chance again"

"Don't risk a next time. Take Dick Kenyon's offer, Ellen."

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"Thank you, I'll obey you implicitly" Katharine said, with a smile sadder than tears then followed Adams out of the apartment

"Poor deluded child'" said my father. "She will have a sad, fruitless search, but there wasn't the slightest use of trying to argue with her."

"Did you see the letter she received from Jack?' Dicky asked.

"No, but she had it in her bag," I replied. "She recited it to me, and I memorized it"

I recited the words of the letter, and they listened without interruption until I had finished.

"A forgery, of course," my father said," and a clever one, for you say Katharine recognized Jack's handwriting."

"She was sure it was his," I answered.

"When she comes back," my father directed, "try to get hold of that letter long enough for me to have it photostated, even if you have to steal it."

"I shan't have to do that," I said. I am sure she will turn it over to you willingly, for she would be exceedingly glad to have it definitely proved a forgery."

"Yes, you are probably right," my father commented. Then he turned briskly to Dicky.

"This changes my plans, Richard," he said Harry really does not need a nurse. You can do everything necessary, and if by and chance he should require one, Dr. Twitchell can send one in And I want Katharine and Margaret to remain here in this suite, with Adams on guard where he was before.

Puzzle for Lillian

"There probably will be an attempt to get into communication with Katharine here, for they will figure she will come directly to Margaret.

"So tomorrow morning, Richard, you will go over to the Underwoods and take over, explaining about Katharine's arrival and my reasons for keeping her and Margaret here. That will give Lillian something to puzzle over, which will be good for her. But now I mustn't keep you any longer. I need not warn you Richard, to be watchful and alert"

"I'll be on the job, sir," Dicky replied. Then my father went out and Dicky strode quickly to the closet where the maid had put the bed linen for the living room couch, which Dicky had used the preceding night.

Dicky's Plan

"Card from the Chambermaids' Union right in my pocket," he said, emerging with his arms piled high. He did not stop at the living room couch, however, but went through my bedroom to the camouflaged door leading to the communicating apartment where my father had stationed Adams

"Whatever are you going to do?" I asked.

"Use yoh haid, woman!" Dicky admonished with what I knew was purposeful levity, calculated to divert my mind from tragedy. "When Katharine returns and uses the key you gave her to come in here, I don't want her to come upon my snoozing personality unaware. Suppose I should be snoring! Therefore I'm going to camp down in the other suite in the room adjoining this.

"Thanks to Dad's precautions," he went on, "there won't be any danger for you tonight. That gifted listening post. Mr. Milner, manager of the Lansfield, believes Adams is on the job for your father, and will report according to his masters. So you can go to sleep in peace."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

OFFENSE IS ONLY PART

An advancing army must have plenty of drive forward to gain ground At the same time, however, it must protect its flanks In other words, the offensive is only part of its work. It is the same with a No Trump declarer. He is seeking to collect nine tricks to score his game. But he must watch out for himself and make sure that the opponents do not collect five tricks before he gets to work on his nine. Hence, he had better have some kind of stopper in the suit the enemy attacks, unless their attack falls short through their suit being of only four cards in length.

	♠ K 4 ♥ K J 8 ♦ 9 7 4 3 ♣ 9 7 5 3
♠ 7 2 ♥ Q ♦ A K Q J 10 2 ♣ A 10 8 2	N W E S	♠ A J 10 8 5 ♥ 10 7 3 2 ♦ 6 ♣ K Q 6
	♠ Q 9 6 3 ♥ A 9 6 5 4 ♦ 8 5 ♣ J 4

(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
1 ♦	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♦	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	3 NT	Pass

West did not actually make that last bid of 5-Diamonds. If he had, all would have been very salubrious for his side, as he could hardly have lost more than two tricks, one in hearts and one in spades

Playing at No Trumps, East was "behind the eight-ball" from the start, and never had a chance. Sitting there all ready and poised to run six tricks in diamonds, four in clubs and a spade, for a total of 11 tricks, he never got his plan of action started until the battle was over.

South naturally led his heart 5, the singleton Q falling to the K, the J coming back, then the 8, so that the A-9 trapped the 10 and enabled South to take a fifth trick with the 6. The rest of the tricks were, of course, East's, but he had already been obliged to discard two winners, and there were only eight tricks left to be taken anyway.

The Sporting News dishes it out this week for former Mansfield Brave hurlers Bob Kuzava and Chuck Byers, and two other ex-Ohio State league chuckers, Lefty Hal Cisgen of Fremont, and Don Bayliss, of Tiffin, who form the "Big Four" of the Mid-Atlantic league-leading Senators of Charleston.

I think the Sporting News can tell it to you better than I can, so here's what Dick Hudson writes in the national baseball weekly:

* * *

"The Charleston Senators are leading the Middle Atlantic league because of super pitching. Lefty Bob Kuzava, for instance, had compiled an almost unbelievable earned run average of 0.89 while winning 12 games and losing one—that by 1 to 0.

"Kuzava had hurled four shutouts and allowed the opposition only one run in three other games.

"The 195-pound southpaw, who was 19 on May 28, had hurled 111 innings up to July 4, allowing 21 runs, of which only 11 were earned.

"Behind Kuzava is Don Bayliss with an ERA of 1.36 for 119 innings as his mates kicked in 20 of the 38 runs off him. Lefty Hal Cisgen boasted a mark of 1.40 for 71 innings. Chuck Byers, another member of the Big Four, had an average of 2.16 for 96 frames.

"These four pitchers, working 396 of the first 483 innings, posted a combined earned run average of only 1.43 with 63 earned tallies out of 111.

"The Middle Atlantic is a pitchers' league this year, with Charleston averaging only 3.9 runs per game, while leading all but five days through half the season."

That's all from Charleston in this week's Sporting News, but it's enough to make all the fans around the old Ohio State circuit very proud of the class of the now defunct baseball wheel.

* * *

Ha! So Bob Kuzava was 19 on May 28 was he? Now who was that Mansfield girl he used to go with—the one he told he was 21?

Speaker Still Seriously Ill

CLEVELAND — (NS) — Tris Speaker, the Gray Eagle who led the Cleveland Indians to their lone American league pennant in 1920, is still on the danger list at Lakeside hospital, attendants reported today, although he spent a "fairly comfortable night."

Speaker, 54, was taken to the hospital Sunday night suffering from a cold, believed to be on the verge of pneumonia. His physician, Dr. Edward Castle, operated on him Wednesday night for an intestinal disorder.

"The next two days will tell the tale," Dr. Castle said.

Five years ago Speaker won a bout with death when he fell through a rotted railing on the second floor of his home. He suffered a fractured skull, a fractured arm and gashes in his face that required 100 stitches to close

He is a steel executive and chairman of the Cleveland boxing commission.

Jim Foxx Pummels Pitchers

Old Double-X Makes His Presence Known.

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NO ONE has accused James Emory Foxx of anything but a decorous debut in the National league. For days after he joined the Chicago Cubs the big slugger was as inconspicuous as a stick of gum.

But if the senior circuit expected "The Beast's" huge war club to remain silent indefinitely, it must know better now.

He set off a cannon-cracker on the Fourth of July with a three-run homer that knocked Mort Cooper out of the box after winning nine straight games; yesterday he made half of the Cubs' six hits and drove in the deciding run in a 3 to 2 victory over the Boston Braves.

The Braves' Eddie Miller, who hadn't made a miscue in 40 previous games, bobbled one chance.

The Cincinnati Reds nosed out the Brooklyn Dodgers 2-1 in ten innings in a night game. Frank McCormick singled Bucky Walters home to decide the contest.

The defeat shaved a full game off the Dodgers' apparently ample 8½ game lead because the St. Louis Cardinals snatched a 3-2 victory in a ten-inning tussle with the New York Giants.

In the American league the New York Yankees continued their mastery over the St. Louis Browns with a 5-2 victory—their eighth straight over St. Louis. The Yanks scored all their runs on three hits off John Niggeling in the first inning.

* * *

Mel Harder held the Philadelphia Athletics to four hits as the Cleveland Indians scored a 4-2 victory. Tex Hughson not only pitched seven-hit ball, but drove in three runs himself with a double and a single as the Boston Red Sox battered the Detroit Tigers 6-1.

Philadelphia-Pittsburgh and the Chicago-Washington night games were postponed.

Reiser Takes Hitting Lead

Passes Joe Gordon In Major Stick Parade.

NEW YORK—(UP)—Pete Reiser of the Brooklyn Dodgers, National league batting champion last year, jumped from second place in the major league hitting race to first this week, replacing Joe Gordon of the New York Yankees by a commanding 14 point advantage, official tabulations revealed today.

Reiser boosted his average from .348, registered a week ago, to .361, bettering the Boston Red Sox' Bob Doerr, who moved from third place to second with a mark of .347. These averages are based on games played up to and including Thursday.

Gordon, who held the lead for three consecutive weeks, dropped off 12 percentage points from a .345 to tie for third place with Ted Williams of the Red Sox, who climbed from fifth over the past week.

* * *

Southpaw Larry French of the Dodgers continued his lead among the major league pitchers with nine triumphs and no defeats, five of the victories won while in a relief role He is followed by Hank Borowy of the Yankees who holds second place with seven wins and one setback.

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(Wide World)—While other golfers have been worrying about the war's effects on their clubs, a bunch of the boys up at St Johnsbury, Vt., decided to do something about it. . . . Like all the rest, they've had to economize so every Monday evening ten or a dozen gather on the course and instead of chasing a little pill they put in three good hours wielding scythes, riding mowing machines, raking and weeding traps etc . . . So now they not only have a layout that's in fine shape but they have a lot more interest in the club than before.

Harder Hurls Four Hitter

Tribe Veteran Makes Successful Comeback.

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Mel Harder, just past the midway mark in the year of his comeback, appears to pitch better ball in daylight than darkness.

Manager Lou Boudreau had made a Friday night pitcher out of him, but in his last two nocturnal assignments he lost to Boston and then was knocked out of the box in the first inning by the Tigers for another defeat.

Reverting to daylight assignments, he avenged the Tiger setback with a three-hit victory over Detroit last Sunday, and yesterday allowed the Athletics only four hits as Cleveland won, 4 to 2. He thereby brought his season record up to an even break, seven games won and seven lost.

Ray Mack's bat had a great deal to do with the Indians' scoring. He got three hits off Herman Reese in three tries, and drove in two runs as the Tribe evened the three-game series

Three of the winners' tallies came in the fifth. Mack's Texas leaguer drove in Buster Mills, who had doubled and stolen third. The second baseman was caught at third on Otto Denning's roller, but Denning scored on Boudreau's single and Oris Hockett drove in Harder, who had bunted safely Mack's sixth inning single added the final run by plating Jeff Heath.

Shut Out Gets Big Test Today

Carries Top Weight In Empire City Feature.

NEW YORK—(NS)—Shut Out the three-year-old champion—at least at this stage of another baffling racing year—gets the $64 question up at Empire City today.

Loaded with 129 pounds, three more than he has ever been asked to carry before, the son of the Chocolate Soldier, Equipoise, will face probably eight other starters in the $25,000 added mile and three sixteenths Empire City handicap and he'll have to be a good horse to win it.

Among those named to try and upset the Greentree stable's latest pride and joy are the Wheatley stable's entry of vagrancy and Apache; Eternal Peace, Billy O, Ahamo, Ramillies, Lochinvar and Col. Teddy. Shut Out gives them all chunky concessions of weight down to 105 pounds, the feather impost in the affair which Eternal Peace will carry, if he decides to go postward.

While Shut Out undoubtedly will go to the post a heavy favorite, he won't have any cinch with the Wheatley entry or a couple of things named Ramillies, Lochinvar and Col. Teddy.

Personally we think the Wheatley entry will prove the pair to beat. Vagrancy the classiest filly of the year, is in this thing with only 114 pounds and ran a swell race to finish about four back of Whirlaway and Tola Rose in track record time for a mile and one-quarter last Saturday The fact that she will have Apache running with her is not to be sneezed at.

Welch Rules as Tourney Favorite

SPOKANE, Wash.—(UP)—Bill Welch, Houston, Tex., and Pat Pat Abbott, Los Angeles, ruled as favorites in the semi-final round of the Western Amateur golf tournament.

Welch, national public links champion, meets Bruce McCormack, Los Angeles, a former public links titleholder. Abbott meets Harry Givan, Seattle, former Walker cup player.

Corp. Bud Ward, Spokane, defending champion and favorite to retain his title, was eliminated yesterday by Welch 2 up. In another quarter-final upset, Wilfred Wehrle, Racine, Wis., was beaten by Givan 5 and 4.

NEW MILE RECORD EQUALLED ALREADY

STOCKHOLM, Sweden—(AP)—That 4:06.2 clocking for the mile which Gunder Haegg established just eight days ago already has been equalled. Arne Anderson, who was second to Haegg on July 2, last night was clocked in the same figure.

Called Minor Star of Year

Hitting around the .350 mark and playing a bang-up game at third base for the Indianapolis Indians of the American association, Joseph Aloysius Bestudik, above, is being hailed as the minor league star of the year. Bestudik is sought by five major league clubs, including the Dodgers and Yanks.

Mead and Jacobs Both Liked Bright Lights, Chorus Girls

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK —(NS)— The lights were dim and the chorus girls were kicking and prancing around and a crooner mooed spasmodically into a microphone. The place was stuffy with stale smoke and the smell of stale drinks and people babbled and laughed above the noise of the floor show

"I never sit around a jernt like this that I don't miss Joe Jacobs," a fight manager said "That Jacobs used to love these jernts They helped him get rid of his money in a hurry and any place that would do that was the spot for him."

Jacobs who previously had managed Max Schmeling into the heavyweight championship, reached the peak of his artistry in building beer-sodden oftenpronounced Tony Galento into a challenger against Joe Louis Then died shortly thereafter

"That Eddie Mead was a handy boy with a dollar, too," another fight manager said, "and he'd sit up all night too with no holts barred."

Mead died recently as nearly penniless as was Jacobs, and died too of a heart attack.

When Jacobs died Galento's career died with him, when Mead went it started the greatest of his fighters on a comeback, and they fell to discussing that and wishing that Henry Armstrong would give up his return to the ring The little brown man who was brought to three world titles and a challenge for a fourth by Mead and brought into such wealth that he thought money would never run out is fighting up and down the country trying to get a new stake and risking blindness in every start

"He's broke now, too," one of the managers said and told how he tried to dissuade Armstrong against his comeback

"If that Mead had lived he would have put a stop to it" the manager said "Just the day before he died, Mead talked to Henry over long distance and asked him not to fight any more, bad as they both needed money."

Easy come easy go, so Armstrong is fighting here and there and soon will appear in a headliner in Boston—fighting, and getting whipped by fellows who couldn't have hit him with a handfull of rice a couple of years ago and couldn't have lasted more than a couple of rounds.

He took some bad beatings toward the finish of his great reign as one of the standout fighters of all times. They used to have to cut the scar tissue from around his eyes, and his mouth was gashed a couple of times and when he finally went he obviously was washed up He didn't seem to have another punch left, nor the ability to stand up under another punch

But his money went in bad investments and in one way and another He couldn't quite make a go of it leading an orchestra and he's fighting now again for purses that would be little more than a good tip from Mead to a headwaiter

He knocked out Petey Sarron for the feather title then beat Barney Ross for the welter crown and Lou Ambers for the lightweight title and went on to box Ceferino Garcia for the middleweight championship Meantime he was fighting two three four time a week and through it all ran up an almost incredable string of knockouts and victories to become one of the outstanding drawing cards in the history of the smaller divisions

He was almost unbeatable from 1937 when in October of that year he hit the peak against Sarron, until last year when he lost the last of his crowns, his welter title to Fritzie Zivic, then was knocked out in a return match That ended him big purses and the Mead-Armstrong combine

Bob Snyder Gets Notre Dame Job

SOUTH BEND, Ind—(AP)—The Rev. J. Hugh O'Donnell, president of the University of Notre Dame, yesterday appointed Robert A Snyder as Notre Dame freshman football coach.

Snyder, who has been quarterback on the Chicago Bears, starred at Ohio University, Athens, O., before entering professional football.

* * *

He will teach the freshmen the rudiments of the T-formation, help with scouting and, if time permits, will assist backfield Coach Ed McKeever with the varsity.

Snyder, a native of Fremont, O., succeeds Lieut. William H. Cerny, U. S. Navy reserve, who is participating in the navy aviation physical hardening program.

Paddock Enlists As Marine Captain

SAN FRANCISCO — (UP) — Charles Paddock, known two decades ago as "the world's fastest human" began his work as a captain in the marine corps today.

Paddock, a Long Beach and Pasadena publisher, served in the first World War as a lieutenant in the field artillery. He said he joined the marines because he believed that branch of the service will see plenty of action.

In his sprinting days he wore the colors of the University of Southern California and participated in the Olympic games.

Reds Win In 10th Inning

Bucky Walters Proves Hero For Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI—(AP)—One up in their four-game series, the Cincinnati Reds meet the Brooklyn Dodgers in a doubleheader today.

Ray Starr, trying for his 13th victory, and Paul Derringer, anxious to even his pitching record at five-and-five, were the Redleg hurling nominees against Curt Davis and Johnny Allen.

Bucky Walters was the big hero last night as the Reds snatched a 2-1 victory in the tenth inning. After holding the hard-hitting Dodgers to a half-dozen singles for 10 frames, Bucky got his second single of the night in the tenth, reached second when Peewee Reese dropped a double-play throw from Pitcher Hugh Casey, and slid home on Frank McCormick's clean single to center to beat Pete Reiser's throw.

* * *

The victory was Walters' tenth against six losses—four of the setbacks in the first three weeks of the season. Also, it was Bucky's first conquest of the league-leaders who had beaten him three times

WAR GOODS PRODUCTION RISES FAST

Expected to Hit 75 Billion Dollar Mark Next Year, Nelson Predicts.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Stocks were resistant in spots today but many market leaders lingered in minus territory.

Gainers of fractions included Westinghouse, Union Carbide, Goodyear, Northern Pacific and Consolidated Edison. Off a shade were Santa Fe, General Electric, Sperry, Sears Roebuck, Pennsylvania and U. S. Gypsum.

Market analysts noted the forecast of WPB Chairman Nelson that war goods production this year would reach $45,000,000,000 and rise to $70,000,000,000 or $75,000,000,000 in 1943.

Studied also was the summary of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association disclosing that, while lumber output, shipments and new orders in the week ended July 4 were under the preceding week, increases over the corresponding period a year ago ranged from 14 to 15 per cent.

SCHOOL HOUSE NOW PORTABLE

Mobile Units Serve Families In Over-Crowded Sections of Georgia.

(By United Press)

ATLANTA, Ga. — The South, caught in the middle of the national defense program, is adding one more war-time innovation—the portable school house.

The mushroom growth of cantonments and industrial centers has sky-rocketed school populations in many areas beyond the capacity of the regular schools.

Lester M. Marx, regional engineer of the Federal Works agency here, has recommended that over-crowded sectors be supplied with portable school houses. As families of workers follow spreading defense jobs, "the little red schoolhouse" would trail along.

The plan is for sturdy, prefabricated wooden units, capable of being easily assembled or dismantled. This, said Marx, would relieve the over-crowded conditions of regular schools and assure uninterrupted study by children of migrant war workers.

More than 200 new permanent school houses are under construction now in the South but only a few of them will be ready for use this fall. Marx thinks that the portable school, successfully tried in Vallejo, Calif., would be the answer.

Marx pointed out that erection of a complete prefabricated school would require only two weeks, and the cost would run only between $15,000 to $30,000. These schools would be built in units and the entire school, or as many units as necessary, would follow right behind the migrating population.

Australia Opens Crusade Against 'Black Market'

SYDNEY, Australia — (INS) — Australia, following Great Britain's lead in clamping down hard on food regulation violators, has opened up an all-out campaign against the Black Market.

The first violator was caught selling three bags of stolen potatoes for $23 when the fixed price is $15.

After a short trial he was convicted and fined $1,200.

"The only way to stamp out this practice is to take it seriously," said the judge. "While I do not impose a prison sentence this time, I shall not hesitate to do so in the future."

THEATERS

Dramatic Story.

The lives and loves of the itinerant fruit and vegetable pickers in a small Florida town are depicted in "Juke Girl," the Ohio attraction co-starring Ann Sheridan and Donald Reagan of "King's Row" fame. Miss Sheridan has the role of the hostess in a local "juke joint" while Reagan and Richard Whorf appear as traveling fruit pickers who frequent the place. Murder and a proposed lynching furnish the action at the end of the film. George Tobias, Alan Hale and Gene Lockhart are in the cast.

Gangster Thriller.

Humphrey Bogart is up to his old tricks again. In "The Big Shot," showing at the Madison, Bogart is cast as a three-time loser who can't go straight because of his record and who is afraid to do anything crooked because the next time it's "up the river for keeps." After being goaded to the limit by his pals he contrives the greatest "stick-up" of his career. Irene Manning appears as the wife of the underworld's mouthpiece. Little Patty Hale, Mansfield's movie starlet, appears in "Always In My Heart," the co-feature with Kay Francis, Walter Huston and Sndney Blackmer.

Powerful Drama.

Absorbing story of young people, hemmed in by the stifling inhibitions and taboos of a small midwestern town in the early years of the 20th century is unfolded in "King's Row," the Ritz attraction based on Henry Bellamann's popular drama by the same name. Ann Sheridan, Ronald Reagan, Robert Cummings and Betty Field top the cast and other players include Judith Anderson, Charles Coburn and Claude Rains. "Joe Smith, American," with Robert Young and Marsha Hunt is the co-attraction.

"Spitfire" Comedy.

An uproarous comedy of errors in which everyone seems to be two other people is depicted in "Mexican Spitfire At Sea," the Park attraction. Lupe Velez and Leon Errol top the cast with the latter cast in his usual role of "Uncle Mat," the tipsy British nobleman. Miss Velez appears as the volatile Latin wife of Charles "Buddy" Rogers whose desperate efforts to land advertising contracts inevitably lead to domestic earthquakes. "What's Cookin'?" with the Andrews Sisters and Gloria Jean is the co-feature.

will continue for at least six more weeks. Chief Seeburger is seeking 75 more applicants to make up another class. He estimated that at least 150 men will be needed to man the auxiliary fire stations planned by the civilian defense council.

"These drills give the auxiliary men a real taste of what they might meet in a fire," said Seeburger, "and I believe it will stimulate their interest. Bookwork is important but firemen must actually perform their duties to know how to do them."

In addition to the fire fighting demonstrations, members of Seeburger's auxiliary class study first aid treatment on Tuesday nights. Training is held at the city's four fire stations.

Gets $20 Fine—Pleading guilty to a charge of operating a motor vehicle with insufficient brakes, D. R. Schwan, jr., 20, of Lexington R. D. 2 was fined $10 and costs in municipal court this morning. He was arrested yesterday by state highway patrolmen after an accident in which Schwan, unable to halt his car, hit the bucket of a gasoline shovel being used in excavating a ditch on a county road south of Mansfield.

Request Action — Members of Goodwill lodge, Order of Ahepa, have been requested to inform national organization leaders whether they favor cancellation of the national convention scheduled to be held in Atlanta, Ga., next month. James Georgopulos, president of the Mansfield lodge, said that the convention would probably be cancelled because of restrictions on tires and gasoline. Members of Goodwill lodge will meet next week to vote on the matter.

SCRAP FIGURE HITS 268 TONS

Rubber Campaign Has Surprise Finish With 64,578 Lbs. on Final Day.

some 13,700,000 tons of scrap was collected, but during the next six months WPB hopes to bring in 17,500,000 tons. This would provide full-scale production and leave a stockpile which would run for 90 days.

Officials said there is enough iron and steel on American farms alone to make twice as many battleships as exist in all the navies of the world. Or it would make enough 2,000-pound bombs to drop three each minute on the Axis countries for more than three years.

FOUR DRIVERS GIVEN FINES

Judge Lifts Licenses In 3 Cases; Youth, 17, Given Suspended Sentence.

Four drivers, one of them a minor, were arrested last night by Mansfield police on traffic violation charges.

Charles H. Stapleton, Marion, pleaded guilty to a speeding charge when arraigned in municipal court this morning and was fined $10 and costs. His operator's license was suspended for 90 days.

Theodore Greenwald, 34 Arnold avenue, was fined $50 and costs and his license was revoked for one year after he pleaded guilty to a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol.

Clarence C. Garberich, Galion, paid a $5 fine after pleading guilty to a charge of operating a motor vehicle with an inadequate muffler.

The other driver was a 17-year-old Mansfield youth who crashed into the hedge and front lawn of the home of C. K. Smaltz, 634 West Fourth street, last night. Police said the youth stated he did not know Western avenue was a dead-end street and that a blow-out of a tire prevented him from stopping. Police said there was no indication of a blow-out.

The youth was arraigned in juvenile court this morning and Probate Judge S. H. Cramer gave him a suspended sentence of 10 days in the Richland county detention home provided he paid for damages caused in the accident. His operator's license was suspended for 30 days.

IT'S BEAUTIFUL, SOPHIE.
COLONEL HOOFER WORKED NIGHTS FOR 20 WEEKS AT $42.50 A WEEK TO PAY FOR IT, TOOTS
YESSIR, CASPER, I PAID $840.00 FOR THAT RING
DOES YOUR BOSS KNOW ABOUT IT, COLONEL?
7-6
WHATS MY BOSS GOT TO DO WITH IT?
WELL, IF I WAS YOUR BOSS, I'D AUDIT THE BOOKS TO SEE IF ANY OF THE FIRM'S DOUGH WAS MISSING
JIMMY MURPHY
I CERTAINLY WAS ASHAMED OF MYSELF FOR SUSPECTING COL. HOOFER WHEN I FOUND OUT THAT HE HAD WORKED NIGHTS FOR 20 WEEKS TO BUY ME THIS DIAMOND RING.
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
I HOPE HE NEVER FINDS OUT THAT I POSED AS "PEACHES PIPP" AND MADE LOVE TO HIM TO FIND OUT IF HE'S TRUE TO ME.
HEAVENS, THIS IS A WIRE FROM THE REAL PEACHES PIPP! SHE SAYS SHE'S LEAVING TONIGHT TO COME AND VISIT ME!
7-7
PLEASE RUSH THIS TELEGRAM TO PEACHES PIPP! TELL HER NOT TO COME HERE, AS I'M LEAVING TOWN TONIGHT---
JIMMY MURPHY
SO LONG, SOPHIE. I'VE GOTTA GET TO MY JOB AT THE AIRPLANE FACTORY!
COL. HOOFER, YOU'RE A CHANGED MAN! YOU'RE A HARD WORKER NOW
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
THE COLONEL JUST LEFT IN TIME--- HERE COMES A TELEGRAM FROM PEACHES PIPP --- SHE WAS COMING TO VISIT ME AND I WIRED HER NOT TO COME!
HEAVENS! IT SAYS: "YOUR TELEGRAM TO MISS PEACHES PIPP WAS NOT DELIVERED, BECAUSE SHE HAD ALREADY LEFT TO VISIT YOU!"---
OH-OH-H-H-
JIMMY MURPHY
7-8
WHY DID I DISGUISE MYSELF AS "PEACHES PIPP" AND MAKE LOVE TO COL. HOOFER TO TEST HIS LOVE FOR ME? WHEN HE SEES THE REAL MISS PIPP HE'LL KNOW IT WAS A FRAME-UP! HE'LL LOATHE ME FOR IT!
I MUST KEEP COL. HOOFER FROM MEETING THE REAL MISS PIPP UNTIL I PUT HER WISE THAT I IMPERSONATED HER TO TEST HIM.
SEE YOU LATER, SOPHIE I'M GOING TO WORK NOW.
I'M GLAD HE'S GOING! NOW, IF PEACHES SHOWS UP, I'LL ASK HER TO GO UNDER ANOTHER NAME TO SAVE MY HIDE!
GOOD HEAVENS--- LOOK!
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved

Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
SOPHIE WILL HAVE TO BE A MAGICIAN TO WIGGLE OUT OF THIS! SHE IMPERSONATED MISS PIPP AND MADE LOVE TO ME TO TEST ME, AND NOW THE REAL MISS PIPP SHOWS UP.
HOW WILL I EXPLAIN TO COL. HOOFER? NOW HE'LL KNOW MY MAKING LOVE TO HIM WAS A FRAME-UP! GEE, I FEEL SO CHEAP ABOUT IT! WHAT WILL I SAY?
JIMMY MURPHY
I'VE CAUGHT SOPHIE DEAD TO RIGHTS, BUT HOW WILL I HANDLE THE SITUATION? SHALL I MAKE HER SQUIRM, OR JUST FORGET IT.
7-10
SOPHIE, IT'S A CO-INCIDENCE THAT THERE ARE TWO PEACHES PIPPS! THE ONE WHO TRIED TO VAMP ME, AND NOW THIS ONE.
ER, YES, ER-
BUT IF YOU'LL LOOK IN THE 'PHONE BOOK YOU'LL SEE THAT LOTS OF PEOPLE HAVE THE SAME NAME AND INITIALS
ER- THAT'S RIGHT--- I KNOW TWO GIRLS WITH IDENTICAL NAMES
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
TSK-TSK! THE COLONEL DIDN'T SUSPECT ME AT ALL! HE'S TOO DUMB TO PUT TWO AND TWO TOGETHER —
I ACTED DUMB TO MAKE SOPHIE FEEL GOOD! SHE'S LAUGHING, BECAUSE SHE THINKS I'M NOT WISE TO HER-- AND I'M LAUGHING, BECAUSE I'M WISE TO HER, ONLY SHE DON'T KNOW IT-- AND A GOOD LAUGH NEVER HURT ANYBODY.

SECRET AGENT X-9

I'D LIKE TO FAMILIARIZE MYSELF WITH THE WORK BEING DONE HERE, PRINCE!
TO THINK THAT I DOUBTED YOUR WORD THAT YOU WERE AN AXIS FLIER, ESCAPED FROM AN INTERNMENT CAMP, LIEUTENANT RUDOLF!
OUR PROJECT HERE CALLS FOR UTMOST DISCRETION! IF THE YANKEE PIGS HAD AN INKLING OF WHAT WE PLAN, WE WOULD PAY FOR IT WITH FAILURE — AND OUR LIVES!
MAJOR JACKS, AN AXIS RESERVE OFFICER — DESPITE THE BUTLER'S UNIFORM — WILL BE YOUR GUIDE!
GOOD! I'LL GIVE YOU MY REACTION LATER!
CORPORAL, FOLLOW THAT LIEUTENANT RUDOLF! THERE IS SOMETHING ABOUT HIM I STILL MISTRUST!
MEL GRAFF
ANYTHING INTERESTING, PRINCE CAESAR
I HAVE BEEN EXPECTING YOU, CAPTAIN! WHAT DID YOU LEARN ABOUT THAT G-MAN?
HE LEFT WASHINGTON.. I TRAILED HIM INTO THIS REGION!
WELL! AND THEN WHAT?
I AM SORRY TO SAY THAT HE SLIPPED AWAY!
LOOK AT THAT MAN WALKING DOWN THE PATH WITH MAJOR JACKS....
WHAT GOES ON IN THAT BARN, MAJOR? SOUNDS LIKE A MOTOR!
A POWERFUL MOTOR, LIEUTENANT RUDOLF!
MEL GRAFF
AS ONE OF THE FUEHRER'S AIRMEN, YOU WILL APPRECIATE WHAT YOU ARE ABOUT TO SEE INSIDE THIS BARN, LIEUTENANT RUDOLF!
SO?
PRINCE CAESAR, THAT'S HIM — THE G-MAN! AND MAJOR JACKS IS ABOUT TO LET HIM SEE THE BOMBERS!
STOP HIM!!
CAREFUL YOU DON'T HIT JACKS.
AM I INTERRUPTING?
MEL GRAFF
I SEEM TO HAVE WALKED IN ON A LITTLE PRIVATE TARGET PRACTICE!
NOT QUITE, SAVANNAH!
CAPTAIN KURTZ CLAIMS THE NEW MAN WHO JOINED US HERE IS NOT LIEUTENANT RUDOLF, AN ESCAPED AXIS FLIER, BUT A G-MAN!
I WAS ABOUT TO REMOVE HIM! ANY OBJECTIONS, MISS SALEM?
FURTHERMORE, KURTZ SAYS HE WITNESSED THIS MAN TALKING TO YOU!
THAT'S A LIE!
WATCH HER, KURTZ! PERHAPS HER MEMORY WILL BE REFRESHED WHEN SHE MEETS HIM FACE TO FACE!
MEL GRAFF
THIS IS AN EYEFUL! I DIDN'T REALIZE YOU WERE RUNNING A BOMBER ASSEMBLING PLANT HERE, MAJOR JACKS!
AND NO CONTRIBUTION TO THE AMERICAN WAR EFFORT, I ASSURE YOU, LIEUTENANT RUDOLF!
I AM AT LIBERTY TO TELL YOU THAT AT THE OPPORTUNE MOMENT, THESE BOMBERS WILL RAIN DOWN BOMBS ON WASHINGTON ITSELF!
GREAT SCOTT!
THE PRESIDENT WILL WONDER WHERE THE PLANES CAME FROM...I HAVE AN ANSWER... — FROM SHANGRI-LA! HA-HA-HA!
HERE COMES PRINCE CAESAR!
MEL GRAFF
DON'T TRY TO ACT LIKE A DUMBHEAD! YOU KNOW THIS "LIEUTENANT RUDOLF" IS A G-MAN! HERE COMES PRINCE CAESAR WITH HIM NOW...
WELL, SAVANNAH.... DO YOU RECOGNIZE THIS MAN?
HOLD IT! YOU DON'T HAVE TO ASK HER!
YOU'RE RIGHT, PRINCE! I AM A G-MAN... BUT THIS GIRL NEVER SAW ME BEFORE IN HER LIFE!
